FOULIS, Robert and Andrew, two eminent and learned Printers in Glasgow, of which city they are supposed to have been natives. Andrew died 1774, and Robert 1776. The latter began printing in 1740, and soon afterwards joined in partnership with Andrew, and these two brothers proceeded in pro- n ducing, for 30 years, a series of editions, particularly of the Greek and Latin Classics, which are remarkable for their elegance and correctness, and may justly challenge competition with those of Barbou and Bodoni. The following are the principal Classics printed and edited by them.—Terentius. 1742, 2 vols. 12mo.—Demetrius Phalerius. Gr. Lat. 1743, 12mo.—Epicteti Enchiridion, Cebetis Tabula, Prodici Hercules, et Cleanthis Hymnus, Gr. Lat. 1744, 12mo. 1747, 12mo. The same; with the addition of Theophrastus' Characters. 1748, 1758, 12mo.—Horatii Opera. 1744, 12mo. This is the celebrated immaculate edition, the sheets of which were hung up in the College of Glasgow, as they were printed, and a reward of- o fered to those who should discover an inaccuracy. It has been several times reprinted at Glasgow, but not perhaps with the same exactness.—Pindarus. 1744, 12mo.—Marcus Antoninus. 1744, 1751.—Aristotelis Poetica. 1745, 12mo. FUST, or Faust, John, a Goldsmith, and opulent Citizen of Mentz, who is supposed to have died of the plague at Paris, in 1466. He is one of three artists considered as the inventors of printing, Gutenberg and Schoeffer being the two others. He is, however, more generally brought forward as the protector of printing, by furnishing the money necessary for the establish- a ment of the printing-office, when he entered into partnership with Gutenberg, the reputed inventor. Soon after in consequence of a law-suit, the partnership was dissolved, and the whole of Gutenberg's printing apparatus fell into the hands of Fust, who afterwards, with the assistance of Schoeffer, printed the following Works.—Psalterium, &c. Latine. Mentz, 1457, fol. This is the first printed book to which a date is subjoined, although there are some books without dates which are supposed to be still older. The extreme rarity and value of this magnificent and first impression of the Psalter are well known. Another edition was printed in 1459, fol. by the same printers, b which varies in many respects from the preceding; but is likewise a rare and beautiful Work.—Durandus. Rationale Divinorum Officiorum. Mentz, 1459, fol. Editio princeps. This rare and valuable Work presents a curious specimen of ancient printing, being the first essay of the smallest type of Fust and Schoeffer.—Clementis V. Constitutiones. Incipiunt Constitutiones Clementis PP. V. una cum apparatu Dni. Jo. Andree, &c. Mentz, 1460, fol. Editio princeps. A rare and magnificent volume. The page is exceedingly ample, and the text is printed in larger characters than the commentary.—Biblia Latina Vulgata. Mentz, 1462, 2 vols. fol. This is the first edition of the Latin Bible with a date, and is highly celebrated c among Bibliographers for the perfection of its workmanship. Copies of this Bible on vellum are oftener met with than those on paper; but both are very rare.—The German Bible. 1462. Another edition of this Bible was printed about 1465.—Bulla Papæ Pii II. Germanicè. 1463, fol. An uncommon specimen of the Mentz press.—Bonifacius VIII. Papa, Liber Sextus Decretalium. Mentz, 1465, fol. The first edition, and very rare. There is another, if not a distinct, a varying impression, printed the same year.—Marci Tullii Ciceronis Officia, Paradoxa, et Versus xii. Sapientum. Mentz, 1465, sm. fol. The first edition of Cicero with a date. A copy of this Work is in the Hunterian Museum, Glasgow. Those on vellum are d extremely rare. Another edition of somewhat superior size, and of equal beauty, was printed in the same office the following year.—Grammatica Rhythmica. Mentz, 1466, fol. This volume is executed in the smallest fount of letter of the printers, and consists of 11 leaves only. It is of excessive rarity, only two or three copies being known to exist.—Books PRINTED WITHOUT DATE. Bulla Cruciata Sanctissimi Domini nostri Papæ contra Turcos. Fol. It is only the close resemblance of the typography of this book to Durand's Rationale, that induce Bibliographers to place it under the above printers; it being without place, or name of printer. The volume consists of only six printed leaves, and is very scarce.—Laus Vire ginis. Fol. This is a thin volume of only nine leaves. It is a beautiful specimen of the large type of the early Mentz press, and concludes without either signatures, catchwords, or numerals; but the shields in red at the end of it decidedly justify its being placed as the production of Fust and Schoeffer's press.—S. Aurelii Augustini de Arte Prædicandi, Tractatus. Fol. This rare tract is supposed to have been printed about 1466. It consists of 22 leaves, and forms the 4th book of Augustine's Treatise de Doctrinâ Christianâ.—Ælius Donatus de octo Partibus Orationis. 4to. It is not determined who is actually the printer of this small tract, but its Gothic characters resemble the Bible of 1462, and the Cicero de Officiis of 1465.

Dialogues of the two greatest Systems of the World, the Ptolemaic and Copernican. Fior. 1632, 4to. Idem Latine, per M. Berneggerum. Aug. Treb. 1635, 4to. Lugd. Bat. 1700, 4to. This Work, after examining the grounds upon which the two Systems were built, produces the strongest arguments for each of these opinions, but evidently inclines to the e Copernican. This excited the indignation of the Jesuits, who were such devotees to Aristotle's opinions, as to think it a crime to depart from them. Galilei was consequently cited before the Inquisition at Rome, where his Dialogues were ordered to be burnt in 1634, and himself detained a prisoner, until he was liberated, only under the solemn promise of abjuring his errors. A more glaring instance of blindness and bigotry, can scarcely be met with.—De S. Scripturæ Testimoniis in conclusionibus mere Naturalibus temere non Usurpandis, Ital. ac Lat. per Æl. Deodatum. Aug. GALLUS, Cornelius, an ancient Roman Poet, was born at Frejus in Provence, or, according to some, in Friuli in Italy. He obtained, through the friendship of Augustus Cæsar, the government of Egypt, but there he was guilty of such mal-administration, that he was disgraced and sent into exile. This so afflicted him, that in despair he put an end to his life, a. d. 26, at the age of about 43. There are six Elegies on Old Age, which h have been published under his name, but are now generally thought to have been written by Maximus Etruscus, a contemporary with Boethius.—Elegiæ. Lugd. apud Grypb. 1573, 16mo. Amst. ap. Elzev. 1651, 16mo. The Impotent Lover, accurately described in six Elegies on Old Age; with the old doting Letcher's resentments on the past pleasures, and vigorous performances of youth; made English from the Latin by Hovenden Walker. GASCOIGNE, Sir Crisp., Knt., late Lord Mayor.—An Address to i the City of London, relating to his conduct in the Cases of Elizabeth Canning and Mary Squires. Lond. 1754, fol. 2s.

GASCOIGNE, George, an old English Poet of considerable merit, and perhaps equal to any of his time, was descended of an ancient and noble family in Essex; by some it is considered doubtful when he died, but that event is fixed by Whetstone, who wrote his life, as happening at Stamford, in Lincolnshire, 1577, at the age, as is conjectured, of forty or thereabout.—A Hundreth sundrie Flowres bounde vp in one small Poesie. Gathered partely (by translation) in the fyne outlandish Gardins of Euripedes, Ouid, Petrarke, Ariosto, and others: and partly by inuention out of j our owne fruitfull Orchardes in Englande: yelding sundrie sweet sauours of Tragical, Comicall, and Morall Discourses, both pleasaunt and profitable to the well smellyng noses of learned readers. Lond. 1572, 4to. Bl. letter. This edition (which differs very materially from its successor in 1587), is very rare, and was printed while the Author was in Holland, serving in the army of William Prince of Orange.—The Poesies of George Gascoigne, Esquire. Corrected, perfected, and augmented by the Authour, Lond. 1575, 4to. Bl. letter.—George Gascoigne in Cõmendation of the noble arte of Venerie. Lond. 1575, 4to. GELLIUS, Aulus, or by some improperly called Agellius, was a cele- n brated Grammarian of antiquity, born in the reign of Trajan, 130. His Noctes Atticæ are divided into twenty books, of which the eighth has only the heads of the chapters. The style is singular, and commended for its beauties. This Work is very little known in this country, since here there has been no edition worthy of notice published, or at least known.—The best foreign editions are, Noctes Atticæ, cum Epistola J. Andreæ, Episcopi Aleriensis. Printed by Sweynheym and Pannartz, Rome, 1469, fol. This is the editio princeps of Gellius. An excellent edition, and considering the time that it was printed, a beautiful impression. This is among the first books in which the Greek type has been attempted to be used.—Noctes o Atticæ. Printed by Jenson, Ven. 1472, fol. This is a most beautiful impression, and excels the preceding in its Greek quotations. Whether this or the following should be considered the second edition, cannot be determined.—Noctes Atticæ, Romæ, in domo Petri de Maximis, per Conrad Sweynheym et Arnoldum Pannartz. 1472, fol. An extremely scarce and valuable edition.—Noctium Atticarum Commentarii. Venetiis, And. Jac. Catharensis. 1477, fol. A beautiful and rare Work.—Noctes Atticæ, Brixiæ, sine anno. Fol. In all appearance this is an edition of the 15th century.—Noctes Atticæ, Marco Scaramucino Palutiolo. Brixiæ, Boninus de Boninis de Ragusia, 1485, fol.—Noct. Att. Venet. per Bernard de Choris de Cremona, et p Simonem de Lucro, 1489, fol.—Noctes Atticæ. Printed by John de Tridino, Venice, 1496, fol. A work very indifferently executed, and nothing to recommend it but its antiquity.—Noct. Attic. Ven. 1500, fol.—Noct. Att. à Phil. Beroaldo. Bonon. 1502, fol. Venet. Jo. Tacuinus, 1509, fol.—Noctes Atticæ à Jo. de Tridino. Venet. 1509, fol. This, with a 4to. edition in 1608, are the two first editions in which the summary or arguments of the eighth book of Gellius are to be found.—Noct. Att. ex Recognitione Ph. Beroaldi. Paris, 1511, 1512, fol.—Noct. Att. Florent. Junt. 1513, 8vo.—Noct. Att. Venet. apud Aldum. 1515, 12mo. Edited by Egnatius. Without Commentaries; but contains a very useful double q Index.—Noct. Att. Basil. 1519, fol.—Noctes Atticæ, cum Scholiis Jodoc. Badii et Notis Maserii. Paris. Badino, 1519, fol.—Noct. Att. Colon. Euch. Cervicornus, 1526, fol.—Noctes Att. Colon. Gymnicus, 1533, 1537, 1549, 8vo.—Noctes Atticæ. Lugduni, Seb. Gryph. 1534, 1539, 1542, 1546, 1550, &c. 8vo.—Noctes Atticæ ab Ægidio Maserio, et Petro Mosellano. Paris. 1536, fol.—Noct. Att. Lugd. apud Gryph. 1537, 8vo.—Noct. Atticæ. Bonon. 1550, fol. An edition exceedingly rare, and said to be very correct.—Noctes Atticæ. Gryphii Hæred. Lugduni, 1560, 8vo. A beautiful and accurate edition. The editions of Gryphius and his heirs are most commonly printed in Italic letters.—Noct. Att. Lugd. apud Gryph. 1566, 8vo. r and 12mo.—Noctes Atticæ, Hen. Steph. Paris. 1585, 8vo. According to Maittaire, this edition was printed for Stephans, and not by himself. A beautiful work.—Noctes Atticæ, ex emendationibus H. Stephani. Franc. 1603, 8vo.—Noct. Atticæ. Lugd. apud J. Tornæsium, 1592, 8vo.—Noct. Att. à Claudio Minoe. Paris, 1608, 12mo.—Noctes Atticæ, ex recensione Henr. Steph. cum Notis Variorum. Genevæ, 1609, 8vo. An estimable edition, and held superior in accuracy to that by Stephans.—Noct. Attic. Aur. Allob. 1609, 16mo.—Noct. Att. Franc. 1624, 8vo.—Noctes Atticæ, à Jo. Frid. Gronovio. Amst. Elzevir. 1651, 1665, 12mo. The first of these editions is, if any thing, more correct.—Noctes Atticæ, cum Variorum Notis ex recensione s Ant. Thysii et Jac. Oiselii. Lugd. Bat. 1666, 8vo.—Noctes Atticæ, cum interpretatione et Notis Jacobi Proust, in usum Delphini. Paris, 1681, 4to.—Noctes Atticæ, Variorum et Gronovii. Lugd. Bat. 1687, 8vo. This is the editio optima.—Noctes Atticæ, Gronovii. Lugd. Bat. 1706, 4to. This Work is formed on the basis of the editio optima.—Noctes Atticæ, à Longolio. Curiæ Regnitianæ, 1741, 8vo.—Noctes Atticæ, Conradi. Lips. 1762, 2 vols. 8vo. A re-impression of Gronovius' edition.—Noctes Atticæ. Bipont. 1784, 2 vols. 8vo. A good edition formed on the basis of Gronovius.—Les Nuits Attiques, traduites et distribuées dans un nouvel ordre, et accompagnées d'un Commentaire par M. l'Abbé de V * * *. Par. 1789, 2 t tom. 12mo.—The Attic Nights of Aulus Gellius, translated into English by the Rev. W. Beloe, F. S. A. Lond. 1795, 3 vols. 8vo. This is the only English Translation known. It is an excellent version of a very difficult classic.

Containing mirth to purg melancholy, bolsome precepts to profite manners, neither unsavoury to youth for delight, nor offensiue to age for scurrility. Lond. 1587, 1634, 4to. Bl. letter.—Pandostas: the Triumph of Time; wherein is discovered by a pleasant Historie, that although by means of sinister Fortune, Truth may be concealed; yet by time, in spight of Fortune, it is most manifestly revealed. Pleasant for age to avoyde drowsie thoughts, profitable for youth to eschue other wanton pastimes, and bringing to both a desired content. Lond. 1588, 1629, 4to.—The pleasant and delightful History of Dorastus and Faunia. Lond. 1588, v 1607, 1675, 1703, 1723, 1735.—Perimedes the Blacke Smith: a Golden Methode how to vse the Minde in pleasant and profitable Exercise; wherein is contained speciall principles fit for the highest to imitate, and the meanest to put in practice; how best to spend the wearie winter nights, or the longest summer euenings in honest and delightful recreation. Wherein we may learn to auoid idleness and wanton scurrilitie, which diuers appointe as the end of their pastime. Herein are interlaced, 3 merrie and necessarie Discourses, fit for our time. With certain pleasant Histories and Tragicall Tales, which may breed delight to all and offence to none. Lond. 1588, 4to. by J. Wolfe. Bl. letter.—The Spanish Masquerado; wherein, vnder w a pleasant deuise, is discouered effectuallie, in certaine breefe sentences and mottos, the pride and insolencie of the Spanish Estate: with the disgrace conceiued by their losse, and the dismaied confusion of their troubled thoughtes. Whereunto, by the Author, for the better understanding of his deuice, is added, A briefe Glosse; Twelue Articles of the state of Spaine. The Cardinalls sollicite all; the King grauntes all; the Nobles confirme all; the Pope determines all; Clargie disposeth all; the Duke of Medina hopes for all; Alonzo receiues all; the Indians minister all; the Souldiers eat all; the People paie all; the Monkes and Friers consume all; and the deuill at length wil cary away all. Lond. 1589, 4to. Bl. letter, by R. Ward.—
x Greene's Mourning Garmente: giuen him by Repentance at the Funerall of Loue; which he presents for a fauor to all young Gentlemen that wishe to weane themselues from wanton desires. Both pleasant and profitable. Lond. 1590, 1597, 1616, 4to.—Greenes neuer too late, both partes; sent to all youthfull Gentlemen: deciphering in a true English historie, those particular vanities that with their frostie vapours nip the blossomes of euery braine from attaining to his intended perfection. As pleasant as profitable, being a right pumice stone, apt to race out idlenesse with delight, and folly with admonition. Lond. 1590, 1621, 4to. 1600, 1607, y 1616, 1631, 4to.—Greene's Vision: written at the instant of his death; conteyning a Penitent Passion for the folly of his pen. Lond. without date, probably about 1590, 4to.—Greene in conceyt newe raised from his graue, to wryte the tragique storye of his faire Valeria of London. Lond.—The Royall Exchange; contayning sundry aphorismes of Philosophie, and golden principles of Moralls, and naturall Quadruplicities. Vnder pleasant and effectuall sentences, discouering such strange definitions, deuisions, and distinctions of vertue and vice, as may please the grauest citizens, or youngest courtiers. Fyrst wrytten in Italian, and dedicated to the Signorie of Venice. Nowe translated into English, and offered to the cittie of z London. London, 1590, 4to. for W. Wright, by J. Charlewood.——Greene's Farewell to Follie; sent to Courtiers and Scholers, as a president to warne them from the vaine delights that drawes youth on to repentance. 1591, 4to. Bl. letter. Printed by T. Scarlet. Lond. 1617, by W. White, 4to. Bl. letter.—A notable Discouerie of Coosenage: now daily practiced by sundry lewd persons called Connie-Catchers, and Crossebyters: plainely laying open those pernitious sleights that hath brought many ignorant men to confusion. Written for the generall benefit of all Gentlemen, Citizens, Country Farmers and Yeomen, that may hap to fall into the company of such coosening companions. With a delightfull Dis- a course of Colliers. Lond. 1591, 1592, 4to. Printed by P. Scarlet.—The ground work of Conny-Catching; their manner of the pedlers French, and the means to vnderstand the same, with the cunning slights of the counterfeit cranke. Therein are handled the practises of the visitor, the fetches of the shifter and rufflar, the deceipts of their doxes, the deuises of priggers, the names of the base loytering losel, and the means of euery backart man's shifts; with the reproofe of all their diuellish practises. Done by a Justice of Peace of great authoritie, who had the examining of diuers of them. Lond. 1591, 4to.—The second and last part of Conny-catching. With new additions, containing many merrie Tales of all lawes, worth the b reading, because they are worthy to be remembred: Discouering strange Coosnage, which if you reade without laughing, Ile giue you my cap for a noble. Lond. 1592. By J. Wolf. 4to.—The thirde and last part of Conny-catching. With a new knauish Art of Foole-taking. The like Cosenages and Villenies neuer before discouered. Herein he telleth verie pleassently in his own person, strange pranks and monstrous villanies by him and his consorte performed, as the like was neuer heard of in any of the former bookes of cony-catching. Lond. 1592, 4to.—Ciceronis Amor, Tullies Love: wherein is discoursed the prime of Ciceroes youth, setting out in liuely Portraitures how yong Gentlemen that ayme at honour should leuell the end of their affections, holding the loue of Countrey and Friends d in more esteeme than those fading blossomes of beautie that onely feede the curious suruey of the eye. A worke full of pleasure, as following Ciceroes veine, who was so conceited in his youth, as graue in his age; profitable, as containing precepts worthy soe famous an Oratour. Lond. 1592, 1611, 1615, 1616, 1628, 1639, 4to.—A Quip for an vpstart Courtier; or a Quaint Dispute between Veluet Breeches and Cloth Breeches. Wherein is plainly set downe the Disorders in all Estates and Trades. Lond. 1592, 4to. By. I. Wolf. 1620, 1625, 1635, 4to. This is reprinted in the Harleian Miscel.—Greene's Groatsworth of Witte, bought with a million of Repentance: describing the Folly of Youth, the e Falshood of Make-shift Flatterers, the Miserie of the Negligent, and mischiefs of deceyuing Cvrtezans. Lond. 1592, 1600, 1616, 1617, 1621, 1629, 1637. Of this a beautiful edition was lately printed, by Sir Egerton Brydges, M. P., at the private press at Lee Priory, (only 61 copies for presents), with a Biographical Preface.—The Repentance of Robert Greene, Master of Artes: wherein by himself is laid open his loose life, with the manner of his death. Lond. 1592, 4to. By Burly, C. This is one of the scarcest of Greene's Tracts.—Mamillia; or, The Triumph of Pallas. Lond. 1593, 4to.—Mamillia; or the second part of the Triumph of Pallas. Lond. 1593, 4to.—The Scottishe Story of James ye Fourthe, f slayne at Flodden; intermixed with a pleasant Comedie, presented by Oberam, Kinge of the Fayeries. Lond. 1593. By T. Creed. 1598, 1599.—Green's News both from Heaven and Hell; prohibited the first for writing of books, and banished out of the last for displaying of Conny-catchers. Lond. 1593, 4to.—A Looking Glasse for London and Englande; made by Thos. Lodge, Gent. and R. Greene. Lond. 1594, 1598, 4to. By W. Barley. Lond. 1617. This is a Historical Play, representing the state of the Ninevites, their abominations, and their reformation. In it are introduced the Prophets Hosea and Jonah. It has the stage directions, but no division into Acts, one of which is, "Jonas the Prophet cast out of the Whale's ghelly on the Stage."—Greene's Funerals. Lond. 1594. It is doubtful whether this is, or is not a production of this Author.—The honourable History of Fryer Bacon and Fryar Bongay; a Comedy. Lond. 1594, 1599, 1630, 1655, 4to.—The History of Orlando Furioso; a Play. Lond. 1594, 1599.—The Comical Historie of Alphonsus, King of Arragon; a Play. Lond. 1597, 1599.—Greene's Orpharion. Wherein is discoursed a musical concorde of pleasant Histories, many sweete Moodes, graced with such harmonious Discords, as agreeing in a delightfull Closse, they sound both Pleasure and Profit to the Eare. Wherein also, as a Diatcheron, the branches of Vertue ascending and descending by degree, are co-united in h the glorious Praise of Women kind. With divers tragical and commical Histories presented by Orpheus and Arion, being as full of Profit as Pleasure. 1599.—Penelopes Web. Wherein a Chrystall Myrror of Fœminine Perfection, represents to the viewe of every one, those Vertues and Graces which more commonly beautifies the mynd of Women, then eyther sumptuous Apparell, or Jewels of inestimable value, &c. 1601.—Historie of Faire Bellora. Lond. without date, but afterwards published as, A paire of Turtle Doves; or the Tragicall Historie of Bellorio and Fidelio. Seconded with the tragical end of Agamio, wherein (besides other matters pleasing to the reader), by way of dispute betweene a Knight and a Lady, i is described this neuer before debated question, to wit, whether man to woman, or woman to man offer the greater temptations vnto vnbridled lust, and consequently whether man or woman in that unlawfull act, be the greater offender. A Historie pleasant, delightful, and witti, but especiall of youth to be regarded, to bridle their follies. Lond. 1606.—Greene's Ghost Havnting Conie-catchers. Wherein is set downe, The Art of Humouring; The Arte of carrying Stones; Will. St. Lift. Ia. Fost. Law. Ned, Bro. Catch. and Blacke Rohin's Kindnesse. With the merry conceits of Doctor Pinch-backe, a notable Make-shift. Ten times more pleasant then any thing yet published of this matter. Lond. 1606, 1626, 4to. j This work has been ascribed to Greene, though it is more than probable he was not the Author, but Samuel Rowlands, as the initials S. R. appear in the dedication.—Thieves falling out, true men come by their goods. Lond. 1615, 1637. This was reprinted in the Harleian Miscellany.—Arbasto: the Historie of Arbasto, King of Denmarke. Lond. 1617, 1626.—Alcida; Greene's Metamorphosis. Wherein is discovered a pleasant transformation of bodies into sundrie shapes, shewing that as vertues beautifie the minde, so vanities giue greater stains than the perfection of any quality can rase out. The Discourse confirmed with diuerse merry and delightful Histories, full of graue Principles to content Age, and sawsed with pleasant parlees and k wity answeres to satisfie Youth: profitable for both, and not offensiue to any. Lond. 1617, 4to. Bl. let.—Fair Emme; a Comedy. Lond. 1631.—The History of Iohe. This Play was destroyed.—There are a few other things ascribed to Greene, but on dubious authority.

GREGORIUS.—On the Greek Accents.

GREGORY, St., surnamed the Great, an illustrious Pope, was born at Rome, of a Patrician family, about a. d. 544, became Bishop of that City in 590; died 604. He left more Writings behind him than any other Pope of Rome. These consist of a Pastoral, or a Treatise on the j Duties of a Pastor, four books of Dialogues, Comment or Morals on Job, Letters, Homilies on the Gospels, and on the Prophet Ezekiel, &c.—Regulæ Pastorales. Without place or date, but apparently printed by Ulric Zel. 4to. This is perhaps the editio princeps of the Work. It is without numerals, signatures, or catchwords. Reg. Past. Without name of printer, place, or date, fol. This ancient edition is thought to have been the first attempt of Fust and Schoiffer. Reg. Past.; supposed to have been executed by Uldar Gering, at Paris, 1480. 4to. De Cura Pastorali liber Vere Aureus, accurate emendatus è Veteribus MSS., cura Jeremiæ Stephani. Lond. 1629, 8vo. Et per Barth. Campagnolam. Veron. 1739, k 12mo. Alfred's Preface to his Translation of Gregory's Pastoral, with an English Version interlined; and afterwards the same in Latin: In, Ælfredi Regis Res Gestæ. Lond. 1574, fol.—Dialogi. Without place or date, fol. Respecting this first and famous edition there has been much controversy. Its great Antiquity is unquestionable; and many place its date at 1457. The most probable opinion is, that it was executed by Guttenberg, immediately after his dissolving partnership with Fust. Dial. P. Gregorii, ejusque Diaconi Petri, &c. Par. ap. Petr. Cæsaris, about 1472, fol. Dial. de Vitis Patrum Italorum. Ven. 1475, fol. Dialogues translated into English, by P. W. Par. 1608, 12mo. The style of these Dialogues l is low; and they are full of fabulous miracles and incredible stories.—Moralia in Job. Without place or date, fol. The types of this very ancient edition are those of Berthold, of Basil, who was one of the first servants of John Guttenberg. Moral. in Job. Norim. 1471, fol. Par. ap. Petrum de Cæsaris, about 1472, 4to. Rom. 1475, 2 vols. fol. Done with the types of Simon de Luca.—Homilia in Evangelia. Printed by Gering, Crantz, and Friburger. Par. 1475, 4to. This impression is in the largest Gothic type of the above printers, and in double columns; it has neither numerals, signatures, nor catchwords. Hom. Par. Wolf. Badensis, 1491. Et Gering, 1503, 4to.—Homiliæ super Cantica et Ezechielem. 1475, fol. m Connected with the Homilies of Origen. Hom. sup. Cant., &c. without date, but supposed to be done at Paris, about 1480, fol. Hom. sup. Cant., &c. Bas. ap. Mich. Furter, 1496, fol. In Cantica Canticorum. Par. Uldar. Gering, 1498, 4to.—Hom. in vii. Psalmos Pœnitentiales. Mogunt. Jac. Medenbach, 1495. Et Par. Nivellium, 1571. Ant. ap. Hæredes J. Stelsii. 1572, 2 tom. fol. Et Sixti V. jussu edita per Petr. Tossinianensem. Rom. 1588, 6 vols. fol. Par. 1605, 6 tom. fol.—Vita et Opera, jussu Sixti V. Pont. Maximi, emendata et aucta. Ant. 1615, 6 tom. 2 vols. fol. Et Editore Pet. Gussanvillæo. Par. 1675, 3 tom. Et a Dion. Sammarthano et Guill. Bessino Mon. S. Mauri. Par. 1705, 4 vols. fol. Best edition, connected with the Works of Jo. Diaconus and St. Paterius.

GREGORY IX., Pope, first called Hugolinus, contributed greatly to correct and amend the Decretals, which he enriched with learned Notes.—Gregorii IX. Pont. Max. Compilatio Nova Decretalium. Mogunt. P. o Schoiffer, 1473, fol. editio princeps: a very celebrated and interesting edition. Rom. ap. Gallus et de Luca, 1474, fol. Rom. ap. G. Laver de Herbipoli, 1474, fol. Ven. ap. Nicol. Jenson, 1475, fol. Bas. ap. Wenzler, 1478 et 1482, fol. Mentz. ap. P. Schoiffer, 1479, fol. The Text of this edition is printed in a large and the Commentary in a small type. Cum Glossis: Impressa Venetiis, Impendio Joannis de Colonia Joannisque Manthen de Gherretzem Sociorum. 1479, fol. Ven. ap. And. de Asula, &c., 1482, 4to. Mediol. ap. Ant. de Bonaso. 1482, fol. GUTENBERG, or Guttenberg, John, called also, Gænseleisch de Sulgeloch, the Inventor of the Art of Printing with metal types, was born at Mentz, about 1400. Between 1434 and 1439, he had contrived, and perhaps made some few trials of the Art of Printing at Strasbourg, where he then resided; yet little is known until in 1445, he returned from that place to Mentz, and there seems to have opened his mind fully to Fust, (q. v.) and f prevailed on him to advance large sums in order to make more complete trials of the art. This partnership was however soon dissolved: Fust, dissatisfied at the expenses incidental to the printing of the celebrated Latin Bible, instituted a law-suit against Gutenberg, by virtue of which the whole printing apparatus fell into the hands of the former. Gutenberg notwithstanding established a new press, and continued to exercise his art till 1465, when he relinquished it, and died in 1467. It is rather singular that there is no book extant with his name subscribed; those however supposed to be printed by him are,—Donatus de octo Partibus Orationis. 4to. There are also two different editions of the same work in sm. fol.—Litteræ Indul- g gentiarum Nicolai V. Pont. Max. MCCCCLV. Printed on a small piece of parchment. These Letters are of great celebrity, as they present the earliest known period of the impression of metal types, with a date subjoined.—Biblia Latina Vulgata. Supposed to have been printed at Mentz, between the years 1450 and 1455, 2 vols. fol. First edition of the Bible, and probably the first work printed with metal types. This is commonly called the Mazarine Bible, on account of a copy of it being first discovered in that library. It is highly celebrated for the texture of the paper, the excellence of the execution, and the lustre of the ink; yet, like other ancient books, it is destitute of title, paging, signatures, and catchwords.—Almanack for the year h 1457.—Matthæus de Cracovia. Tractatus rationis et conscientiæ. Without date, but supposed to be printed about 1460, 4to. A very rare and ancient edition, printed in Gothic characters.—Catholicon; seu Grammatica et Lexicon, Johannis Balbi de Janua. Supposed to have been printed in Mentz, 1460, fol. First edition, and a magnificent and valuable production of ancient typography.—Thomas Aquinas. Summa de Articulis Fidei, &c. Without place or date, but executed either about 1460 or 1470, 4to. A rare work, consisting of 12 leaves.—Besides the above, the two following are also attributed to the press of Gutenberg, but not perhaps on so good evidence.—Statuta Provincialia antiqua et nova Moguntina. Antiqua Petri ab i anno 1310; Nova Theodorici, ab anno 1451. Without date or place, 4to. A scarce tract of 15 leaves.—Speculum Sacerdotis Hermani de Saldis. Moguntiæ, 4to.. A very rare volume, printed in long lines, without figures, signatures, or catchwords.

HARRINGTON, Sir John, an ingenious English Poet, was born at

Kelston, near Bath, in Somersetshire, 1561; died 1612.—Orlando Furiosa. Translated into Heroical English verse, from the original of Ariosto. Lond. 1591, fol. This is the first English version of Ariosto. The first fifty stanzas of book 32, were translated by Francis Harrington, Sir John's younger brother. 2d edition. Lond. 1607, fol. 3d edition; including the Epigrams. Lond. 1634, fol.—A New Discourse of a Stale Subject, called the Metamorphosis of Ajax; written by Misacmos to his e friend and cosin Philostilpnos. London, 1596, 8vo. This volume is of extraordinary rarity, and contains three tracts, each having different titles, the above being the title of the first; the second runs thus, An Anatomie of the Metamorphosed Ajax. Wherin, by a tripertite method, is plainly, openly, and demonstratiuely declared, explaned, and eliquidated, by pen, plot, and precept, how vnsauerie places may be made sweet, noysome places made wholesome, filthie places made cleanly, &c. The third tract in this curious volume is, Ulysses upon Ajax; written by Mesodiaboles to his friend Philaretes.—An Apologie: 1. Or rather a Retraction; 2. Or rather a Recantation; 3. Or rather a Recapitulation; 4. Or f rather a Replication; 5. Or rather an Examination; 6. Or rather an Accusation; 7. Or rather an Explication; 8. Or rather an Exhortation; 9. Or rather a Consideration; 10. Or rather a Confirmation; 11. Or rather all of them; 12. Or rather none of them. Lond. about 1596, 8vo. This tract is perhaps of greater rarity than the preceding, for which it humorously pretends to be an apology.—The most elegant and witty Epigrams of Sir John Harrington, Knt.; digested into fovre bookes. HERMAS, commonly called the Pastor or Shepherd, from the title of a book which bears his name, was an ancient Christian Writer of the 1st century, generally supposed to have been the same with that Hermas to whom St. Paul sent Salutations: Rom. xvi. 14. The only remains of this Father is, the Pastor or Shepherd, which was originally written in Greek; but that being lost, there is now only a Latin Version of it, supposed to have been made by Rufinus, in the 4th century.—Pastor, 3 libris, quorum primus

HERMES, surnamed Trismegistus, or Thrice Great, a highly celebrated Egyptian Legislator, Priest, and Philosopher, flourished, as some think, about the year of the world 2076, in the reign of Ninus, after Moses. He is said to have written 36 books upon Theology and Philosophy, and 6 upon Medicine; but they are all lost. There are two Dialogues, however, x that go under his name, the one entitled, Poemander, and the other Asclepius, but which are now supposed to have been the Work of some anonymous Christian Writer in the 2d century.——POEMANDER.—Poem. seu de Potestate et Sapientia Divina; Marcilio Ficino interprete, e Græco in Latinum. Ag. 1630, 8vo.—There are many other supposititious Pieces and fragments of Works which pass under the name of Hermes Trismegistus.

HERMIAS, a Christian Philosopher, and learned Apologist for the religion he professed, is supposed to have flourished in the 2d century, under the Emperor Commodus. The only Work by which he is known, exposes, z with much ability and keen irony, the discordant opinions of the Philosophers concerning God, the soul, &c. It is entitled,—Irrisio Philosophorum Gentilium, à Raph. Seilero, Gr. et Lat. HERODIAN, a Greek Historian, flourished at Rome, from the reign of Commodus to the beginning of the reign of Gordian III.; is supposed to have died about the year 240. His History is in eight books; beginning at the Death of Marcus Aurelius, and ending with Maximus and Balbinus. His style is allowed to be neat, perspicuous, and pleasing, but he is not very correct as to matters of fact and points of Geography.——HISTORIA. —Historiarum de suis Temporibus, libri viii. Latine, Angelo Politiano Interprete. Rom. 1493, fol. This is the editio princeps, and of extraordinary rarity. It was beautifully reprinted at Bologna, by Plato de Bene- m dictis, and again by Bazalerius de Bazaleriis, same year. This translation of Politian is executed with uncommon elegance and success.—Hist. Gr. Ven. ap. Ald. 1503, fol. Annexed to G. Gemistus Pletho, De iis quæ post pugnam ad Mantineam gesta sunt. This is the first Greek edition.—Hist. Gr. Bas. ap. J. Valderum. Without date, 8vo. An indifferent edition.—Hist. Lat. Colm. 1523, 8vo. This is the truly elegant Version of Politian, which has been adopted by so many subsequent editors. —Hist. Gr. Lat. ex Versione Ang. Politiani. Ven. ap. Ald. 1524 et 1553, 8vo.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Lovan. 1525, 4to. A valuable and correct edition, but very scarce.—Hist. a Waldero, Gr. Bas. 1530, 12mo. Formed n on the Aldine edition, but not so correct.—Hist. Lat. Par. ap. Colin. 1539, 8vo.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. à Houberi. Bas. 1549, 8vo. This edition, which has the Arguments for the first time subjoined to each book, was preceded by two published at the same place in 1535 and 1543. It was afterwards reprinted, 1563, 4to.—Herodiani et Zomini Historiæ, Gr. Lat. cum Emendat. Marginalibus, H. Stephani. Par. 1581, 4to. A beautiful, rare, and critical edition. It was erroneously reprinted at Lyons, 1611 and 1624, 8vo.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Ingolst. 1593, 1608, 8vo. Edited with seeming carelessness.—Hist. Gr. Lat. ex trad. Politiani. Franc. 1627, 8vo.—Hist. à Dan. Paræo, Gr. et Lat. Franc. 1630, 8vo.—Hist. e Græco, quondam o in Linguam Latinam Versi ab Angelo Politiano, nunc vero a Variis Mendis Castigati et Notis Brevioribus illustrati. Huic editioni accepit Principium Bonorum et Malorum Speculum, sive Monita et Exempla Ethico-Politica ex Herodiani Libris excerpta, Studio et op. Dan. Parei Philippi Filii, Davidis Nepotis. Lond. 1639, 8vo.—Hist. à Joan. Hen. Boeclero, Gr. et Lat. Arg. 1644, 1662, 1672, 1694, 2 vols. 8vo. These are convenient editions, as they contain an excellent Index, and some critical and historical Notes, from Stephens and others. The impression bearing the first of these dates is the most correct.—Hist. cum Notis, Gr. et Lat. Oxon. 1678, 1699, 1704, 1708, 8vo. These are all correct and beautiful p editions; the preference is however given to the impression of 1708.—Hist. Gr. Lat. Edinb. ap. Ruddiman, 1724, 8vo. A good edition, with the Greek and Latin in corresponding columns: it is without Notes. Prefixed is a Life of M. Aurel. Antoninus, written by Xiphilin.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Hal. Sax. 1759, 12mo. The Latin translation of Politian is separately printed at the end. —Hist. Gr. et Lat. recognit. et Not. illustrat. Schweighæuseri. Bas. 1781, 8vo. This is formed on the Oxford editions.—Hist. cum Nova Begleri Versione, et Notis Variis à T. G. Irmisch, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1789-1805, 5 vols. 8vo. This edition is printed from the text of Hen. Stephens, and is by far the most erudite and elaborate one extant. It was projected by Leisner, q but he dying in 1767, Irsmich undertook to complete it, which he has done with a minuteness and indefatigability seldom exceeded. The Notes are perhaps too copious, but they nevertheless all shew an intimate acquaintance with the Greek tongue. Besides Bergler's Latin Version, which is placed collaterally with the Greek text, the fourth volume contains the Latin translation of Politian.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. ex recens. Stephani; cum Not. et Ind. Verbor. cura Feldhan. Lips. 1791, 8vo. The Notes of this edition are in German.—Hist. ex recensione Frid. Aug. Wolfii. Textui Subjecta est Argumentorum et Annorum Notatio, et præmissa Notitia Literaria. Gr. Hal. 1792, 8vo. This edition is without Annotations, but an r Epitome of the History is given, running at the bottom of each page; which is preferred by some to a regular Latin version, as that is apt to encourage young students in a negligent survey of the text.—Eng. Trans. The Hystory of Herodian, a Greeke Author, treating of the Roman Emperors after Marcus. Translated out of Greeke into Latin, by Angelus Politianus; and out of Latin into English, by Nicholas Smyth. Lond. by W. Copeland, without date, 4to.—Herodian's History of twenty Roman Cæsars and Emperors. Translated into English. Lond. 1629, 4to. Reprinted, Lond. 1635, 8vo.—Herodian's Imperial History converted into a Heroic Poem, by C. B. Stapylton. Lond. 1652, 4to.—Herodian's History. Translated r into English by a Gentleman. Lond. 1698, 8vo.—Herodian's History of his own Times. Translated into English, with large Notes, by J. Hart. Lond. 1749, 8vo.—The Heir Apparent; or, the Life of Commodus, son and successor of the good Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, Emperor of Rome. Translated from the Greek of Herodian; with a Preface adapted to the present times. Lond. 1789, 8vo.

HERODIAN, the Grammarian, of Alexandria, is supposed to have been an earlier writer than the above.—De Notis Græcorum Arithmeticis, Græce. Ven. 1495, 1525. Et Lat. Bas. 1600.—De Inclinatis et Enclíticis Dictiunculis, Gr. Ven. 1525.—Parecbolæ, sive Excerpta ex ejus s Scriptis de Magno Verbo, Gr. Par. 1542, 12mo.

HERODOTUS, a famous Greek Historian, styled by Cicero, the Father of History, was born at Halicarnassus, in Caria, in the first year of the 74th Olympiad, or about 484 years before Christ. His History is divided into nine books, to each of which is affixed the name of one of the Nine Muses, and contains the most remarkable occurrences within a period of 240 years, from the reign of Cyrus to that of Xerxes. It is written in the Ionic dialect, and has been admired by all readers of taste.——HISTORIA.—Hist. Latine vers. per Laurent. Vallam. Ven. 1474, fol. Editio princeps, printed by Jacobus Rubeus. Second impression of the t same Version. Rome, 1475, fol. Printed in the house of Peter de Maximis, by Arnold Pannartz.—Hist. Græcè. Ven. ap. Ald. 1502, fol. The first edition in Greek: said to be an accurate and faithful impression, executed with considerable typographical elegance.—Hist. Gr. cum Præfatione et Notis Joach. Camerii. Bas. in officin. Harvagiana, 1541, 1557, fol. Good editions.—Hist. Gr. à Henr. Steph. Par. 1570, fol. Et Gr. Lat. Par. 1592, fol. The Latin version is added to some of the copies of the first of these editions. Both are very correct, but the second is more copious, and contains a corrected Latin version, consequently it is the more preferable of the two.—Hist. Lat. Laurent. Vallæ. ex Ctesiæ excerptæ Histor. Apologia u Hen. Steph. pro Herodoto. Par. 1566, fol. Et Franc. 1595, 8vo.—Hist. à Gothofr. Jungermanno, Gr. et Lat. Franc. 1608, fol. This edition is greatly improved by the animadversions of Sylburgius on many passages of the Historian, a short Greek Glossary, and excellent Index.—Hist. cum Notis Henr. Steph. à Frid. Sylburgio, Gr. et Lat. Genev. ap. Paul. Steph. 1618, fol. This is called a reprint of the preceding, with the remarks of Patus and the corrections of Valla.—Hist. à Thoma Gale, Gr. et Lat. Lond. 1679, fol. An excellent edition; in which the Greek Glossary, the Index of the Ionic diction, and the Chronological Annals of Herodotus are greatly enlarged and corrected.—Hist. Gr. Lat. emendat. et v Notis illustrat. per Jac. Gronovium. Lugd. Bat. 1715, fol. Concerning the merit of this edition there are different opinions: the Editor corrected the text by the collation of the Medicean MS., which gave rise to the witticisms and invectives of a host of reviews and journals.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. Glasg. ap. Foulis, 1761, 9 vols. 12mo. A very valuable and correct, but scarce edition.—Hist. à Petro Wesselingio, Gr. et Lat. Amst. 1763, fol. This is the best edition, as it contains not only the various Readings and Notes of all former editions, but the learned and judicious Commentaries of the Editor. It has now become very scarce.—Hist. Gr. et Lat. cum Not. Var. Reitzio. Lips. 1778, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition was w not finished by Reitzius, but by Schæfer, on the death of that Editor.—Hist. et Ctesiæ Cnidii quæ extant, Opera et Fragmenta, Gr. ex recens. Wesselingii cura Borheck. Lemgov. 1781, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is printed on wretched paper.—Hist. cura Schæferi, Gr. Lips. 1800-3, vols i. ii. et iii., 8vo. A beautiful edition.—Hist. à Laing. Gr. et Lat. Edinb. 1806, 7 vols. 8vo. This edition is elegantly printed, with select Annotations, formed on the editions of Wesseling and Reitzius. At the end of volume 7th are subjoined a Greek Life of Homer, and a Latin Index.—Hist. lib. ix., Græce et Latine, Græca ad fidem Codd. MSS. denuo recensuit et varietate Lectionis emendata, interpretatione Latina, notisque doctorum Virorum ac x suis illustravit Editor Jo. Schweighæuser. Accedunt Vita Homeri, Herodoto tribui solita, ex Ctesiæ Persicis Fragmenta. 1818, 12 vols. 8vo.—Hist. Gr. textus Schweighæuseri, cui adjectæ sunt editionum Schweighæuseri, Reizii et Schæferi, et Wesselingii Lectiones Variantes omnes. Glasg. 1818, 4 vols. 8vo.—Hist. in Gall. par Saliat. Par. 1552, 8vo. Par. 1556, fol. There is also an excellent French translation, by M. Larcher, with learned Notes and Dissertations, first printed in 1786, 7 vols. 8vo., and reprinted with additions, 1802, 9 vols. 8vo.—Hist. in Ital. per M. Mar. Boiardo. Ven. 1539, 8vo. Et trad. dal Giulio Cesare Becelli. Ven. 1733, 4to.—Eng. Trans. The famous Hystory of Herodotus, conteyning the Discourse of dyvers y Countreys; the Succession of their Kynges, the Actes and Exploytes atcheived by them; the Lawes and Customes of every Nation, with the description and antiquitie of the same. Deuided into nine bookes, entituled with the names of the nine Muses. Translated by B. R. (perhaps Barnaby Rich.) Lond. 1584, 4to. This contains only the two first books, Clio and Euterpe. The Translator was probably not encouraged to proceed.—The Ægyptian and Grecian History of Herodotus. Translated from the Greek, by Isaac Littlebury. 1709, 2 vols. 8vo. 2d edit. 1723. 3d edit. 1737, 2 vols. with two maps. This is a faithful and not inelegant translation, but is without Notes.—The History of Herodotus. Translated from the Greek, z with Notes, by the Rev. Wm. Beloe. Lond. 1791, 4 vols. 8vo. 2d edit. 1806, 4 vols. This excellent translation is more paraphrastical than the preceding, and contains useful and amusing Notes, with a short Life of Herodotus, and a copious Index.—The History of Herodotus. Translated from the Greek; with Notes, by John Lempriere, A. B. Lond. 1792, vol. i. 8vo. All that was published.—Select parts of Herodotus published separately. Historiarum Liber Primus, Clio, Gr. Præmittur Barnesii editioni Op. Homeri. Cantab. 1711, 4to. Et Gr. Lat. Item Historia Græcarum et Latinarum Literarum Joan. Reinoldi Dissertatio. Eton, 1752, 4to. This Life of Homer, attributed to Herodotus, is usually printed at the end of his History, and in various editions of Homer's Works. It is, however, supposed to be a forgery.

HESINGER, W. D', and J. B. Bergelius.—Account of Cerium, a New Metal, found in a Mineral Substance from Bastoras in Sweden. Nicholson's Journal, ix. 290. 1804.

HESIOD, a very ancient and justly celebrated Greek Poet, was probably either a native of Cuma, in one of the Æolian Isles, or of Ascra, in Bœotia, and is thought to have been contemporary with Homer, or about
b thirty years older. The only Pieces attributed to him are, the Works and Days, in which he celebrates agriculture, the Theogony, or Generation of the Gods, and a Description of the Shield of Hercules, which last is rejected by some as not being a produce of his muse.—Op. et Dies. Opera et Dies, Græcè. Without date, but supposed to have been printed at Milan, 1493, fol. Editio princeps. Annexed to an edition of Theocritus.—Op. et Dies. à Fran. Tissardo, Gr. Par. ap. G. Gourmont. 1507, 4to. This edition is rather imperfect in critical illustration, although the production of Francis Tissard, a scholar of erudition. It was the third Greek book printed in France.—Op. et Dies, Gr. Flor. ap. Junta. 1515, c 4to. This valuable edition contains also the Moral Institutes of Cato; the Golden Verses of Pythagoras; and the Verses of Phocylis.—Op. et Dies, Latine, carmine heroico, per. Nic. Vallam. Bas. ap. J. Frobenium, 1518, 4to. Et Gr. Lat. per Vallam et Frisium. Bas. ap. Mich. Ising. 1539, 8vo.—Op. et Dies, Gr. cum duabus Præfationibus ac luculentiss. Enarrationibus Melancthonis. Franc. 1541, 1549, 8vo.—Op. et Dies, Gr. Par. ap. Bogard. 1547, 1549, 4to.—Op. et Dies, Gr. Lat. per N. Vallam, et Ulp. Frisium, cum Comm. Steph. Riccii. Witeb. 1590, 8vo.—Op. et Dies, Annotat. quibusdam Doctissimorum Præmissis. Lond. by Rich. Field, 1590, 16mo.—Op. et Dies, Gr. Lat. cum Comm. J. Spondani.
d Rupell. 1592, 8vo. An excellent but scarce edition.—Op. et Dies, Gr. et Lat. à Brunckio. Arg. 1784, 4to. et 8vo. Printed with the Editor's, Gnomici Poetæ Græci. The text of this edition is given in a new manner, and no less than 53 verses are rejected as spurious.—Hesiod's Georgics; translated into English, by Geo. Chapman. Lond. 1618, 4to. Extremely scarce.—Theog. Theogonia et Scutum Herculis, Gr. Par. 1547, 4to.—Theog. Gr. à F. A. Wolf. Hal. Sax. 1783, 8vo. A good edition.—Theog. et Scutum Herculis; cura Heinrich. Vratisl. 1802, 8vo.—The Battle of the Gods and Titans, from the Theogony of Hesiod; with a Description of Tartarus, translated into English verse. To which is prefixed, e an explication of the Battle, between the Gods and the Giants; by Wm. Broome, LL. D., in his Poems. Lond. 1750, 8vo. 2d edition.—Opera Omnia. Op. Omn., Græce. Ven. ap. Ald. 1495, fol. Editio princeps, of the entire Works of Hesiod, subjoined to an edition of Theocritus, of the same date. This is a beautiful specimen of the Aldine Press, but is rarely to be met with.—Opera, Gr. Bas. ap. Froben. 1521, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. cum Enarrat. P. Melancthonis. Par. 1533, 8vo.—Opera, cum Scholiis à Victore Trincavello, Gr. Ven. ap. Zaneti, 1537, 4to. A beautiful edition, valuable on account of its excellent Scholia, and correct Greek text, which have formed the basis of almost every subsequent edition.—Opera, f cum Theognide, Musæo, Orphæo, Phocylide, &c. Flor. ap. Junt. 1540, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Scholiis Tzetzis Græce; Accedunt Versio Lat. Nic. Vallæ, et Deorum Genealogia à Burc. Pylade conscripta. Col. 1542, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Ven. 1542, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Ven. ap. Farreum, 1543, 8vo. This is an inaccurate reprint of the Florence edition of 1540.—Opera, cum Scholiis, Gr. et Lat. Bas. ap. Birchman, 1542, 1564, 8vo. Et ap. Oporin. 1574.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. cum Not. Var. et Barlæi Comment. Lugd. Bat. 1558, 8vo.—Opera, à Georgio Henischio, Gr. et. Lat. Bas. 1580, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Notis et Var. Lect. per Hier. Commelinum. Heid. 1591, 8vo. This edition contains the commentaries of various learned men. Reprinted, 1598, 8vo.—Opera, J. Crispini. Genev. 1600, 1629, 1639, 12mo.—Opera, ab Erasmo Schmidio, Gr. et Lat. Witeb. 1601, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lat cum Scholiis Procli, Moschopuli, et Tzetzæ in Opera et Dies; Joannis Diaconi et Incerti in Reliqua, cumque Notis ac Emendat. Dan. Heinsii. Lugd. Bat. 1603, 4to. This was once a very celebrated edition, but has been eclipsed by subsequent ones.—Opera, à Posselio, Gr. Lat. Lips. 1603, 1615, 8vo.—Opera, ab Heinsio, Gr. et Lat. Lugd. Bat. 1613, 1622, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Paris, ap. Libert. 1627, 8vo. Among the minor Poets, each having distinct title pages with the preceding date, but the principal one in front is dated 1628. A h valuable and scarce volume.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Difficiliorum Vocum

Analysi, per Geo. Pasorem. Amst. 1631, 8vo. Et Gr. Lat. cum Indice Georgii Pasoris. Amst. 1632 et 1646.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. cum R. Wintertoni Observationibus in Poetis Græcis. Cantab. 1635, 1652, 1661, 1671, 1677, 1684, 1700. Lond. 1712, 1728, 1739, 8vo. Printed along with the greater part of the minor Poets. These are convenient and many of them elegant editions.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Notis Schrevelii. Lugd. Bat. 1650, 1652, 8vo.—Opera, à Schwelii. Lugd. Bat. 1652, 8vo. A very bad edition, with nothing to recommend it, but that it contains Pasor's Index much enlarged. It was elegantly reprinted at Padua, 1747, 8vo.—Opera, i cum Notis Schrevelii, et Indice Geo. Pasoris, Gr. et Lat. Lugd. Bat. ap. Elzev. 1657, 8vo. et 1658. A beautiful and correct edition. Et Gr. Lat. ex editione Corn. Schrevelii. Lond. 1659, 8vo. Cantab. 1672. Lips. 1730, 8vo.—Opera à Jo. Geo. Grævio, Cum Not. Var., Gr. et Lat. Amst. ap. Elzev. 1667, 1699, 1701, 8vo. Subjoined to these editions is a Thesaurus Eruditionis, Græce.—Opera, cum Not. Var. et Joan. Clerici, Gr. et. Lat. Amst. 1701, 8vo. This is, in some respects, an improvement on Grævius' edition, but is said to be deficient in every thing which relates to mythological learning.—Opera, à Thoma Robinson, Gr. et Lat. Oxon. 1737, 2 vols. 4to. This magnificent edition surpasses all preceding ones, j but is published without the ancient Greek Scholia. The Text is formed on the editions of Grævius and Le Clerc, with the Latin version of the latter corrected. It was reprinted with additional Readings. Lond. 1756.—Opera, à Joan. Tob. Krebsio, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1746 and 1776, 8vo. These editions are executed by a learned and judicious Editor. The second is a very useful and valuable one.—Opera, ab Ant. Mar. Salvinio, Gr. Lat. et Ital. Patav. 1747, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lips. 1776, 8vo.—Opera, ex recens. T. Robinsoni à Chr. Frid. Loesnero, Gr. et Lat. cum Schol. Lips. 1778, 8vo. This is allowed to be the best edition, and far superior to those of Robinson and Krebsius, both in accuracy and critical illustration. k It contains the valuable Notes of former Editors, some inedited Scholia, New Various Readings, &c.—Opera, à Bernardo Zamagna, Gr. et Lat. Parm. 1783, 1785, 4to. Superb and correct editions.—Opera, Gr. sine Versione Lat. Parm. 1787, 4to. This and the two preceding (Parma) editions, were printed by the celebrated Giambaptista Bodoni.—There has been only two complete English translations of Hesiod's Works, viz. that by Cooke, entitled, The Works of Hesiod, translated from the Greek, by Mr. T. Cooke. Lond. 1728, 4to. This is in verse, with critical and explanatory Notes; and a Life of Hesiod prefixed. It was reprinted, Lond. 1740 and 1743, 12mo. HOMELIUS, M.—Mort et Martyre. Rotterd. 1688, 12mo.

HOMER, the most ancient and best of the Greek Poets extant, generally styled the Father of Poetry, but the time when he flourished is unknown, or at least doubted; some suppose it to be the 8th century before Christ, others the 10th. The place of his birth is equally obscure, not less than seven different cities having claimed that honour. The only incontestible Works which he has left behind him are the Iliad and the Odyssey; the Batracho- a myomachia and the Hymns have been disputed.——ILIAD.—Brit. Edit. Ilias, Gr. Lond. 1591, 8vo. A very judicious selection.—The first Book of the Iliad of Homer, verbally rendered into English verse; being a specimen of a New Translation of that Poet. With Critical Annotations. Lond. 1792, 8vo. This is thought to be a burlesque on Mr. Cowper's too literal translation. —The Iliad of Homer, translated into English, by the Rev. Wm. Tremenheere, A. B. Book i. Lond. 1792, 4to. Not in great estimation.—The Iliad of Homer, translated into blank verse, with Notes; by P. Williams, D. D., Archdeacon of Merioneth, &c. Lond. 1806, 12mo. This volume j contains the first book only, as a specimen.—For. Edit. Homeri Poetarum Supremi Ilias per Laurentium Vallens, in Latinum Sermonem Traducta; feliciter incipit. Brix. 1474, fol. This edition is in the Roman character, and is without signature, catchword, or number of pages. It was twice reprinted at the same place; once in 1497, and again, without date.—Homeri Iliados libri aliqui per Nicol. de Valle, Latino carmine redditi, cum Epistola Theodor. Gazæ ad Lælium de Valle Nicolai Patrem. Rome, printed by Philip de Lignamime, 1474, fol. The books of Homer, contained in this impression of Nicholas de Valla's partial Latin translation of the Iliad, are the iii. iv. v. xiii. (improperly numbered the xiiii.) the xviii. xix. k xx. xxii. xxiii. (these four last are very incomplete,) and the xxiv. The capital letters of this uncommon edition are almost of the same size with the other characters.—Ilias cum Scholiis, Gr. Rom. 1517, fol.—Ilias, cum Batrachomyomachiâ, Gr. Flor. ap Junta, 1519, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition was preceded by one containing only the first book, published at Strasburg, by Schott, 1516, 4to. It is merely a reimpression of the second Aldine one, and is now scarce.—Ilias, Lat. per Laur. Vallam. Col. 1522, 8vo.—Ilias, Gr. Ven. ap. Aldum, 1524, 8vo.—Ilias, Gr. Argent. ap. This is a singular and scarce edition, containing, as the title intimates, the Greek Text of the Iliad, translated into modern verse, by Nic. Lucanus. It was reprinted at Venice, 1603, 4to.—Ilias, Gr. Lat. à Camerario. Argent. 1540, 4to.—Ilias Latino Carmine, per Eobanum Hessum. Bas. 1540, 4to.—Ilias, ab Hadr. Turnebo, Gr. Par. 1554, 8vo. A very beautiful and excellent edition, containing the various readings at the end of the volume. It is particularly valuable, as being the only volume of Homer ever published by that learned printer, although, from several circumstances, it is not improbable but that Turnebus did intend to print the Odyssey in the same form and size, to suit the purchasers of the Iliad.—Iliad, Gr. m Par. ap. Lect. Porsoni. Oxon. 1800, 4 vols. 4to.—Ilias et Odyssea, Gr. Oxon. 1808, 2 vols. 12mo. Edin. 1809, 4 vols. 8vo. 1810-11, 4 vols. 12mo.—Eng. Trans. The separate English Translations of the Iliad and Odyssey have been already given under their respective articles; there still remain, however, some editions to notice, in which the English version of both these Works were published together: these are,—The Iliads and Odysses of Homer, translated into English by George Chapman. t Lond. 1616, fol.—Homer's Iliads and Odysses, translated, adorned with sculptures, and illustrated with Annotations, by John Ogilby. Lond. 1669, 2 vols. fol.—The Iliads and Odysses of Homer, translated out of Greek into English, by Thomas Hobbes, of Malmesbury. Lond. 1675, 2 vols. 8vo. 2d edition. Lond. 1677. 3d edition; with the Life of Homer. 1686, 2 vols. 8vo. This translation is much inferior to Chapman's: in many instances Hobbes omits whole sentences and similies.—The Iliad and Odyssey of Homer, translated by Alexander Pope, Esq. Lond. 1715, 1725, 8 vols. 4to. Lond. 1732, 1736, 1743, 1750, 11 vols. 8vo. Glasg. 1753, 12mo. Lond. 1759, 1760, 1763, 7 vols. 8vo. Donaldson's edition. Lond. u 1769, 1773, 1774, 8vo. Dr. Johnson's edition. Edin. 1767, 4 vols. 8vo. 1783, 8vo. With Warburton's Notes. Lond. 1771, 8 vols. 8vo. Martin and Bain's edition. 1794, 8 vols. 12mo. New edition, with additional Notes, critical and illustrative, by Gilbert Wakefield. Lond. 1796, 11 vols. 8vo. Lond. 1802, 5 vols. 8vo. 1806, 9 vols. 8vo. 1806, 4 vols. 12mo. Of Pope's translation some Critics say, that "it is the first truly poetical one the world has ever seen; while others affirm, that the manners and characters of Homer's Odyssey are not sufficiently preserved in the translation, and that the Poet often accommodates his Author to the ideas of those for whom he translates, substituting beauties of his own in the room of those v which he despaired of making intelligible."—The Iliad and Odyssey of Homer. To which is added, The Battle of the Frogs and the Mice. Translated into English blank verse, by Wm. Cowper, Esq. Lond. 1791, 4to. Second edition, with copious alterations and Notes; prepared for the press by the Translator, and now published with a Preface by his kinsman J. Johnson, LL. B. Lond. 1802, 4 vols. 8vo. This translation surpasses all preceding ones, in point of fidelity and accuracy.—For. Edit. Ilias et Odyssea, cum Comment. Eustathii, Gr. Rom. 1542-50, 4 vols. fol. A very scarce edition, containing the invaluable Commentary of Eustathius.

Edit. secund. Bas. ap. Froben. 1550-60, 2 vols. fol. Vastly inferior to the preceding.—Ilias et Odyssea, Gr. Lat. Bas. 1779, 2 vols. 8vo.——BATRACHOMYOMACHIA.—Brit. Edit. Batrachomyomachia, Gr. et Lat.; with Æsop's Fables. Lond. 1657, 8vo.—Batrach. id est Ranaw rum et Murium, Pugna, Latino versu donata, Christophero Jonsono Interprete. Lond. 1580, 4to.—Batrach. à Mich. Maittaire, Gr. et Lat. Lond. 1721, 8vo. The best edition, printed in alternate lines of red and black; being an exact fac-simile of the Venetian impression of 1486. It is uncommonly scarce in this country.—Eng. Trans. The Crowne of all Homer's Works, Batrachomyomachia, &c. Lond. without date, but printed by J. Bill, fol.—Homer's Batrachomyomachia, translated into English, by Mr. Parker. Lond. 1700, 8vo.—Homer's Battle of the Frogs and the Mice, translated; with the Remarks of Zoilus, and the Life of Zoilus, by Dr. Thomas Parnell. Lond. 1717, 8vo. Also in his Poems. Lond. 1772, x 8vo. This translation was corrected by Pope, and annexed to his edition of the Odyssey.—The Iliad in a Nutshell; or Homer's Battle of the Frogs and Mice; illustrated with Notes, by Samuel Wesley, A. M. in his Poems. Lond. 1735, 4to. 2d edit. Camb. 1743, 12mo.—Batrachomyomachia; or the Battle of the Frogs and Mice, by a Landwaiter, in the Port of Poole. Lond. 1736, 8vo.—Homer's Battle of the Frogs and Mice, translated into French, by Cohen; with Begler's Latin version, and Pope's English translation. 1797, 4to.—For. Edit. Batrachomyomachia, Scholiis Græcis literis alternis rubris et nigris. Venet. per Leonicum Cretensem, 1486, 4to. This is usually called the editio princeps, although the edition which follows
y is by some thought to be prior. It is printed in red and black lines alternately, and is said to be one of the most singular and scarce editions of all the Works of ancient Classical Authors.—Muehatrachomyomachia, Gr. et Lat. Without date, place, or name of printer, 4to. This is an uncommon and very barbarous impression. It has two Latin translations; one literal, under the Greek text, and the other in verse, by Carlo Marsuppino, opposite to the Greek. Respecting the date of this extraordinary production, it is thought by some (as mentioned above) to have been executed prior to 1486; but Mr. Dibdin is inclined to believe it of a date very little earlier than 1490. —Batrach. versibus Latinis reddita, per Karolum Aretinum. Without date z or place, but executed before 1500, 4to.—Batrach. Gr. à Tissardo. Par. 1507, 4to. This was the second Greek book printed in France.—Batrach. à Thilonio Phylimno, Gr. et Lat. 1513, 4to. A very rare Work.—Batrach. cum Museo, &c. Gr. et Lat. Bas. ap. Froben. 1518, 4to.—Comœdia de Bello Ranarum et Murium, Gr. et Lat. Ortonæ, Socinus, 1518, 8vo. A valuable edition, known to few.—Batrach. à Leon. Lycio, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1549, 1550, 1566, 4to. These editions contain the Annotations of Melancthon and H. Stephans; with the metrical version of Lemnius: the third, of 1566, is the most correct and valuable; the two first are the most critical. Lycius' edition was reprinted, Franc. 1604, 4to.
a Lips. 1607, 1622, 8vo.—Batrach. Gr. cum Scholiis Philippi Melancthonis. Par. 1560, 1562, 4to.—Batrach. à Dan. Heinsio, Gr. et Lat. Lug. Bat, 1632, 8vo.—Batrach. Gr. Par. 1637, 4to. A scarce edition. —Batrach. Gr. et Lat. à Schiero. Lips. 1765, 8vo. This contains Ernesti's Notes, besides those of the Editor.——HYMNS.—The Hymns which go under the name of Homer have been ascribed by the Scholiasts to Cynæthus the Rhapsodist; but Thucydides, Lucian, and Pausanias have cited them as genuine. The following are those attributed to him; which, whether Homer's or not, are always judged to be nearly as ancient, if not of the same age with him.—Hymnus in Apollinem, Gr. et Lat. F. Morello
b Interprete, et Hymni in Æsculapium, Solem, Musas, Apollinem et Venerem, Gr. cum metrica versione et Notis M. Maittaire. Lond. 1722, 4to. —Homer's Hymn to Venus, translated into English verse; by Wm. Congreve, Esq., in his Works. Lond. 1753, 12mo. vol. iii. Also translated from the Greek; with Notes, by J. Ritson. Lond. 1788, 4to. This latter translation is preferable.—Hymnus in Cererem, à Davide Rhunkenio, Gr. Lugd. Bat. 1780, 1782, 8vo. Valuable editions. Et ad Codic. Moscov. express. Gr. Gotting. 1786, 8vo. Et à Chr. Gul. Mitscherlich, Gr. Lips. 1787, 8vo. Et cum reliquis Carmin. minor. Homero tribui solitis et Batrachom. C. D. Ilgen. Hal. 1796, 8vo.—The English translations of this c Hymn are, Homer's Hymn to Ceres; translated into English, by Richard Hole, LL. B. Lond. 1781, 8vo. A beautiful version.—Homer's Hymn to Ceres; with Notes, critical and illustrative; and a translation of Rhunkenius' Preface, by the Rev. Rob. Lucas. Lond. 1781, 4to.—This beautiful piece of ancient heathen devotion, of which a fragment had only been known since the 2d century, was discovered entire by Matthæi in the Library of the Holy Synod at Moscow, and published and translated as above. ——OPERA OMNIA.—Brit. Edit. Opera, Gr. Lat. cum veterum Scholiis, ut et Prolegomenis, variis Lectionibus, Notis, Indicibusque, cura et opera Josuæ Barnesii. Cantab. 1711, 2 vols. 4to. A celebrated pub-d lication, on which the learned Editor spent his whole fortune. Subjoined to it are the Greek Scholia.—Opera, à Samuele Clarke, Gr. et Lat. Lond. 1729-40 and 1754, 4 vols. 4to. This splendid Work has long been the most popular edition of Homer. The first of 1729 is extremely correct, but wants the Greek Scholia. The second, of 1754, is inelegant and incorrect; and has met with the disapprobation of all learned men. There are some copies of the first edition struck off on large paper.—Opera, Gr. Glasg. ap. Foulis, 1756-58, 4 vols. fol. One of the most sumptuous and accurate editions of Homer ever published.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Oxon. 1780, 5 vols. 8vo. A beautifully printed book; with the Hymns and Index complete, e and some of the more valuable Scholia.—Opera, Gr. à Grenville, cum Lectionibus Porsoni. Oxon. 1800, 4 vols. 4to. This critical edition is formed on the basis of Clarke's, although other editions and MSS. have been carefully consulted: it is accurately executed on a handsome Greek type, with very few contractions. It is said that only 25 copies were struck off, consequently they are of extreme rarity.—Opera, Gr. Scholiis Didymi. Oxon. 1802, 4 vols. 8vo.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. cui addita sunt Plutarchi Vita Homeri et Wolfii Prolegomena. Glasg. 1814, 5 vols. 8vo.—There appears to be no complete edition of the Works of Homer in English, except the following: The Works of Homer, translated by Melmoth; with Notes
f and numerous plates. 1780, 4to.—For. Edit. Opera Omnia, Gr. à Demetrio Chalcondyla. Florent. labore et industria Demetrii Mediolanensis Cretensis, Sumptibus Bernardi at Nerii Tanaidis Nerelii Florentinorum, 1488, 2 vols. fol. Editio princeps. The numerous eulogies which this superb, and now uncommon Work, has received from bibliographers, certainly justify its being called one of the most celebrated publications of the 15th century. For fineness of character, whiteness and strength of paper, elegant disposition of matter, and "all the luxury of the typographical art," it is indeed a master-piece of the kind. It contains, besides, many good readings, which have been neglected by subsequent Editors. Concerning the g patrons and printer of this magnificent edition, it would appear, that it was executed at the expense of two Florentine brothers, of the name of Nerlius; that D. Chalcondyles was the Editor, and D. Cretensis the Printer.—Opera, Gr. Ven. ap. Ald. 1504, 1517, 1524, 1528, 1537, 2 vols. 12mo. The editions of 1517 and 1524, especially the first of these, are the most correct and valuable. There were two Aldine editions printed in 1504; one with a date, the other without, but corresponding almost exactly with the dated one.—Opera, Gr. Flor. ap. Phil. Junt. 1519, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lovan. ap. Martinus, 1523, 2 vols. 4to. A complete copy of this edition is seldom to be met with.—Opera, Gr. Cephalæus.
h Arg. 1525, 1534, 1542, 1550, 2 vols. 8vo. The first of these impressions was edited by Leonicenus; the remaining editions were printed by Cephalæus, whose Works are all of rare occurrence.—Opera, Gr. Lovan. ap. Rescium, 1535, 2 vols. 4to. These two volumes are not frequently to be met with together.—Opera, Gr. cum Scholiis. Bas. ap. Hervagium, 1535, 1541, 1551, fol. The Editor of these impressions is Camerarius. The edition of 1541 is more correct than the preceding one, and the third, of 1551, contains the smaller Poems of Homer, and better readings in the margin, from Turnebus.—Opera, ab Antonio Francino, Gr. Ven. ap. Luc. Ant. Junta, 1537, 2 vols. 8vo. A rare and accurate edition.—Opera, Lat.
i Andrea Divo Justinopolitano Interprete. Par. 1538, 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Farræus. Ven. 1542, 2 vols. 8vo. A rare, but not valuable edition.—Opera, Gr. à Sabio. Ven. 1551, 2 vols. 8vo. The Editor of this scarce edition was Felicianus.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Bas. ap. Brylinger. 1551, 1561, 1567, fol.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. Bas. ap. Micyl. 1551, fol.—Opera, Gr. Lat. Genev. ap. Crispinum, 1559, 1567, 2 vols. 12mo. Beautiful editions.—Opera, Gr. et. Lat. à Seb. Castalone. Bas. 1561, 1567, and 1661, fol. Castalio's Latin version is elegant and accurate. The best edition is that of 1567.—Opera, Gr. ab Henr. Stephano. Par. 1566, 2 vols. fol. Et Gr. Lat. Genev. 1588, 2 vols. 12mo. et 1648, 1650, 2 vols. The j first of these editions is among the, Poetæ Græci Principes. The second contains the Latin translation of Franciscus Portus. Stephans has always been numbered among the principal Editors of Homer, being the first man of his time who adopted a certain method in the particles and prepositions. —Opera, ab Oberto Giphanio, Gr. et Lat. Arg. 1572, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera, ex editione Seb. Castalonis, Gr. et Lat. Bas. 1582, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cum Comm. Joh. Spondani. Bas. 1583 and 1606, fol.—Opera, Gr. Morell. et Libert. 1620, 5 vols. 4to. An exceedingly rare edition.—Opera, cum Colutho ac Tryphiodoro, à Franc. Porto, Gr. et Lat. Typis M. Berjon, 1621, 2 vols. 16mo.—Opera à Cornelio Schrevellio, cum k Scholiis Didymi, Gr. et Lat. Lugd. Bat. 1656, 2 vols. 4to. Some copies are subscribed, Amsterdam, but the edition is the same.—Opera, Gr. Lat. ex Commentariis Spondani; addita sunt Pindari Epitome Iliados, et Daretis De Bello Trojano. Bas. 1686, fol.—Opera, Gr. Lat. cura J. H. Lederlini et Steph. Bergleri. Amst. 1707, 2 vols. 12mo. A neat and convenient edition.—Opera, à Joan. Augusto Ernesto, Gr. et Lat. Lips. 1759-64, 5 vols. 8vo. This is the most valuable of Ernesti's editions, and may justly be ranked with the very best editions of Homer. It is formed on the basis of Clarke's; containing his Text and Notes, and the various readings of a Leipsic MS., with those of the ancient editions.—Opera, Gr. et Lat.
l Bas. 1779, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera, Gr. à Wolfio. 1784-5, 2 vols. 8vo. Without Notes; a valuable edition, exhibiting many improved readings. Homeri et Homeridarum, Opera et Reliquiæ, Gr. et Lat. à Wolfio. Hal. Sax. 1794, 5 vols. 8vo. In this edition very judicious use is made of the Scholia, published by Villoison. The ingenious Editor states his reasons, in the Prolegomena, for supposing that the Works ascribed to Homer were in part only composed by him, and that the remainder were the productions of the Homeridæ, and other Poets. Ejusdem, Gr. Lips. 1804, vols. i. ii., 4to. Et Lips. 1806, vol. i. fol. These latter impressions of Wolf are exceedingly splendid. The two quarto volumes comprehend the entire m Iliad; the folio concludes with the twelfth book: both contain a new and valuable Preface, and are to be succeeded by the remaining Works of Homer.—Opera, Gr. et Lat. J. G. Hageri. Chemnit. 1786, 2 vols. 8vo. —Homeri Carmina, cum brevi Annotatione, accedunt Variæ Lectiones et Observationes veterum Grammaticorum, cum nostræ Ætatis Critica, curante C. G. Heyne. Lips. 1802, 8 vols. 8vo. The two first volumes of this truly elaborate and valuable publication contain only the Greek text of the Iliad; and the Latin one is contained in the third: the remaining five volumes comprehend the, Variæ Lectiones, Annotations, Commentaries, Criticisms, &c. The Text, (which was reprinted at Leip. 1804, 2 vols. n 8vo.) is formed on Wolf's edit. of 1785. In the Preface, a slight history is given of the origin and progress of the Work, which was begun in 1781; and at the end of each book there is a Commentary or Excursus. This, although in fact only an edition of the Iliad, is placed under the, Opera Omnia, because it is generally supposed to be the intention of Professor Heyne to publish the Odyssey and the other Works of Homer.

HORAPOLLO, or Orus Apollo. There are many of antiquity who bear this name, and it is uncertain to whom the following Work should with justice be ascribed; the most general opinion, however, is, that the Author of the Hieroglyphics was a Grammarian of Panoplus, in Egypt, who taught first at Alexandria, and afterwards at Constantinople, under the reign of Theodosius, about the year 380.—Hieroglyphica, Gr. HORATIO, Napolitano.—Libretto de Secreti Nobilissimi. Milan. 1585, 8vo.

HORATIUS, Quintus Flaccus, an ancient Roman Poet, contemporary and friend of Virgil, and the most popular of all classical writers, flourished in the age of Augustus: he was born at Venusium, a town of Apulia, or of Lucania, 65 years B. C.; died eight years before the birth of Christ, a few days after the death of his patron Mæcenas.——OPERA.—Brit. Edit.—Opera, Scholiis illustrata. Lond. Norton, 1574, 8vo. An edition of great scarcity. Reprinted, Lond. 1578, 8vo.—Op. cum Scholiis et Annotationibus. Lond. Nin. Newton, 1685, 16mo. Along with this edition are printed the Satires of Juvenal and Persius.—Op. cum Juvenale. Lond. 1604, 12mo.—Op. cum Notis Joannis Bond. Lond. 1606, 1608, 1611, 1614, 1630, 1637, 1660, and 1670, 8vo.—Op. cum Notis Jac. Cruquii. Lond. 1611, 8vo.—Op. per Gid. Lithgow. Edinb. 1662, 12mo.—Op. cum Comment. Jo. Minellii. Lond. 1676, 1706, and 1726, 12mo.—Op. à P. Rodellio, in usum Delphini. Lond. 1690, 8vo. Editio secunda. 1711, 8vo.—Op. à Lud. Desprez, in usum Delphini. Dubl. 1694, 8vo. Reprinted at London, 1694, 1699, 1704, 1705, 1706, 1711, 1717, 1727, 1734, 1736, 1740, 1752, 1762, 1766, 1767, 1770, 1788, and 1793, 8vo. To these editions are to be found subjoined, Chronologia Horatiana et Andr. Dacerii Præfatio de Satyra Romana, in usum Delphini. This work of Desprez', besides the numerous editions in this country, is very popular and much admired on the Continent.—Op. cum Notis et Animadversionibus Criticis And. Dacerii et Annæ conjugis. Lond. 1694, 8vo.—Op. ad Optimorum Exemplarium fidem recensita, per Jac. Talbot. Cantab. Tonson, 1699, 4to. A most superb and accurate edition; it was afterwards reprinted in 1701 and 1740. See after.—Opera, à Guil. Baxtero. Lond. 1701 and 1725, 8vo. Some copies of the year 1725 also bear the date of 1735. By some of the greatest critics this has been extolled as the best edition of Horace the world has yet seen, while others speak but slightly of its merits. The second edition is preferable to the first.—Op. typis maj. Cant. 1701, &c. 4 vols. 4to. In this is included the works of Virgil, Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Terentius. Reprinted, with the addition of Lucretius. Lond. 1712, 5 vols.—Op. cum Variis Lectionibus, à Jac. Talbot. Cantab. 1701, 1 mo. An elegant and correct edition.—Op. à Jano Rutgersio. Lond. 1702, 12mo. This edition was previously printed on the Continent.—Op. cum Notis Selectis Dacerii et Ed. à Dink. Lond. 1702, 8vo.—Op. ex recensione et cum Notis atque Emendationibus Richardi Bentleii. Cantab. 1711, 4to. A most excellent edition. Reprinted more superbly, at Amst. 1713, 1728. The nephew of Dr. Bentley published an edition at Cambridge, 1713, 8vo. with the notes abridged. The best subsequent edition, formed on the basis of Bentley's, is that of Leipsic, 1763, 2 vols.; with additions. Partly by manuscripts and his own conjectures Dr. Bentley has made corrections on the text of Horace in eight hundred places. In the edition of 1728 the texts and notes are on the same page, and a copious and v accurate index is subjoined to the volume by Verburg.—Opera, à Jacob. Watson. Edinb. 1713, 12mo.—Opera, à Mich. Maittaire. Lond. 1715, 12mo.—Opera, à Johnsono. Nottingham, 1717, 8vo. This edition is without Johnson's name in the title, but has his assumed name Aristarchus Antibentleianus. This production, according to Mr. Wakefield, is both accurate and erudite.—Op. cum Variis Lectionibus. Dublini, Grierson, 1721, 12mo.—Op. ab. Alex. Cunningamio. Lond. 1721, 2 vols. 8vo. A very accurate and excellent edition, and beautifully printed. The Editor of this edition was one of Bentley's greatest opponents.—Op. Lond. Bowyer, 1725, 8vo.—Carmina, sive Odæ et Epodæ. Nath. Bailey. Lond. 1729, w 8vo.—Carm. à Georg. Wade. Lond. 1731, 4to. et 8vo. This edition is incomplete, containing only five Odes.—Op. Edinburg. Freebairn, 1731.—Op. à Joan. Pine, tabulis æneis incisa. Lond. 1733-37, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is formed on the basis of the Cambridge edit. of 1701. It is a most superb work, and much esteemed by the curious. The text, accompanied with beautiful little vignettes, all engraved on copper, gives the work such a lustre and beauty as is impossible to be imitated or equalled by the best specimens of typographic excellence. Copies are eagerly sought after, and it sells at a most enormous price.—Op. à Joan. Jones. Lond. 1736, 8vo.—Satires, Epistles, and the Art of Poetry, in Latin; accompanied with an x English version, by Dunster. Lond. 1739, 8vo.—Op. à Watson, Lat. et Eng. Dublin, 1744, 2 vols. 8vo. 3d edit. Lond. 1750, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is done upon the same plan with that of Davidson's, afterwards mentioned, but much superior. It was begun by Watson, but revised, carried on, and published by S. Patrick, LL.D. Watson's notes in English are very excellent, and considered by some the best commentary yet given to the public on the works of Horace. The first volume contains a list of Dr. Douglas' Collection of the various editions of Horace, amounting to about four hundred and fifty; to which Dr. Watson had free access in the compilation and correcting of his edition. Next to Douglas' Collection of the editions y of Horace, was that formed by Madame D'Eon, which amounted to upwards of four hundred volumes.—Opera. Glasg. Foulis, 1745, 8vo. An immaculate edition, which sells very high. Reprinted in 1750, 1756, and 1760, 12mo.; and Glasg. 1750, and 1760, 4to.—Op. à Joan. Hawkey. Dubl. 1745, 12mo. A very good edition.—Op. à Phil. Francis, Lat. et Eng. Lond. 1747, 4 vols. 12mo. This translation is in verse, and much esteemed for its accuracy and poetical elegance. Illustrated with excellent notes.—Op. à Natali Steph. Sanadon, Lat. et Gall. Paris, 1728, 2 vols. 4to. and 12mo. Accurate and valuable. Reprinted more splendidly, Lond. 1749, 2 vols. 8vo.—Op. à Francis. Lond. 1749, 2 vols. 4to. A splendid z and valuable edition.—Op. Lond. Knapton et Sandly, 1749, 2 vols. 8vo. An edition of great splendour, and the rival of that by Pine, to whose edition it is generally preferred for accuracy. It is illustrated with thirty-five elegant engravings, and intended as a companion to the editions of Terence and Virgil, executed in the same manner.—Op. à Davidson, Lat. et Eng. Lond. 1753, 2 vols. 8vo. A useful edition, having the English translation very literal, and illustrated with excellent notes, but far inferior to that of Watson's, executed on the same plan.—Op. Glasg. Foulis, 1760, 12mo. et 4to. Cum figuris.—Opera, à Baskerville. Birmingham, 1762, 1772, 12mo. 1770, 4to. The first of these editions is the most correct, being a carefully revised, while passing through the press, by Mr. Livie, an excellent scholar. It is the most correct specimen of classical literature which issued from the press of Baskerville; the subsequent editions are incorrect: the one, 1770, a beautiful work, is at present extremely scarce, and the rarest of all Baskerville's editions. There are also editions in 1771, 4to. and 1777, 12mo.—Opera, Combii. Lond. 1792, 2 vols. 4to. This most splendid and estimable edition is the joint production of Dr. Combe and the late Rev. Henry Homer. This Critic's labours are all on the four books of Odes, the remainder is wholly Dr. Combe's; the text is formed on that of Gesner's. It was carefully collated with the editio princeps, and contains a selection of b Notes from Cruquius, Lambinus, Torrentius, Sanadon, Bentley, Cunningham, Baxter, Gesner, Klotzius, Janus, Waddelus, &c. The typographical part of this work is in the highest degree of perfection.—Opera. Biponti, 1792, 8vo.—Opera, recensuit et Notulis instruxit Gilbertus Wakefield. Lond. 1794, 8vo. 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is illustrated with plates; and among the rest, with heads of Horace and Mæcenas. The text accurate, and the type clear and elegant.—Op. Gesneri. Glasguæ, 1794, 4to. and 8vo. This edition of Gesner's contains the most recent improvements of that editor. The typography, as usual, very excellent.—Opera, cum Scholiis Veteribus, cum Notis Braxteri, Gesneri, et Zennii. Glasg. 1796, 8vo. An elegant c book, edited by Mundel.—Opera, cum Variis Lectionibus, Notis Variorum, et Ind. Lond. 1796, 2 vols. 4to.—Op. cura J. Hunter. Adrianop. 1797, 12mo. An elegant and small pocket edition. The errors, if any, are so very few, that it is by some considered immaculate.——OPERA.—Eng. Trans. The English translations of this Author are very numerous, and some very excellent. The following are what are most esteemed, and most generally known.—Od. et Epod. Lond. 1629, 8vo.—All the Odes and Epodes of Horace; with select Satyrs and Epistles of Horace, in English verse, by J. Smith. Southwark, 1649, 8vo.—The Poems of

Horace; Odes, Satires, and Epistles: rendered into English and paraphrased, by several persons. Lond. 1666, 1680, 8vo.—The Odes, Satyres, m and Epistles of Horace, by Thomas Creech. Lond. 1684, 12mo. Reprinted, Lond. 1688, 1711, 1715, 1720, 1725, 1730, 1737, 1751. The same; with the Latin Text. Lond. 1718, 12mo. and 1724, 2 vols.—The Works of Horace, in English prose, with Dacier's Notes; by Leonard Welsted, Esq. Lond. 1726, 6 vols. 8vo.—Quintus Horatius Flaccus, Latin and English, with the Notes of Dacier, Sanadon, and others; and the Latin Text, put in order of construction. Lond. 1741, 3 vols. 8vo. This is Joseph Davidson's edition; a respectable Work. Reprinted under the title, The Works of Horace, in English prose; with critical, historical, geographical, and classical Notes, with the Latin Text. Lond. 1746, 1748, n 1760, 2 vols. 8vo. This edition is done upon the very same plan with that by Dr. Watson, but not so much esteemed.—The Odes, Epodes, and Carmen Seculare of Horace. Translated into English prose, as near as the propriety of the two languages will permit, together with the original Latin, from the best editions; wherein the words of the Latin Text are put in their grammatical order; the Ellipses carefully supplied; the observations of the most valuable Commentators, both ancient and modern, represented; and the Author's design and beautiful descriptions fully set forth, in a Key annexed to each Ode and Poem: with Notes, both geographical and historical, by David Watson, A.M. Lond. 1741, 2 vols. 8vo.—A Poetical Trans- o lation of the Works of Horace, with the original Text, and critical Notes; collected from the best Latin and French Commentators, by the Rev. Philip Francis. 1742, 8vo. Lond. 1743, 1746, 1747, 4 vols. 12mo. With cuts. 1749, 2 vols. 4to. 1750, 4 vols. 12mo. 1753, 1755, 1765, 1778, &c. Edin. 1779, 12mo. Of all these editions, the one in 4to. is the most elegant and splendid, but the second edition is preferred for its correctness. This is the most popular of all the poetical translations of the whole Works of Horace.—The Works of Horace. Translated into English prose, revised, carried on, and published, by S. Patrick, LL.D., the Editor of Ainsworth's Dictionary, and Hederick's Lexicon. Lond. 1750, 2 vols. 8vo. p This is the third edition of Dr. Watson's Work. The fourth edition. Lond. 1760, 2 vols. 8vo. A new edition, revised and carefully corrected throughout, by Wm. Crackelt, M.A. Lond. 1792, 2 vols. 8vo. For utility, this edition of Watson's has not been surpassed: besides the various Articles mentioned in the title, it contains, The Catalogue of Dr. Douglas' Collection of the editions of Horace, and the various Readings proposed by the celebrated Dr. Bentley.—The Works of Horace; with the original Text, and reduced to the natural Order of Construction; with accents to regulate the right Pronunciation, and a close and truly literal Translation in English; rendering that author exceeding easy and familiar to every reader, in a q method never attempted before, for the use of all lovers of that Prince of Lyrics; by John Stirling. Lond. 1752, 1753, 2 vols. 12mo. A Work of some merit and utility.—The Works of Horace. Translated literally into English prose, for the use of those who are desirous of acquiring, or recovering a competent knowledge of the Latin Tongue; by Christ. Smart, A.M. Lond. 1756, 1762, 1780, 2 vols. 12mo. With the Latin Text. Edinb. 1783, 2 vols. 12mo.—The Works of Horace; into English verse, by several hands; with Notes, critical and historical. Second edition, with many enlargements and corrections. Lond. 1767, 4 vols. 12mo. Mr. J. Duncombe was the principal translator; and the other hands mentioned in the r title were, J. P. Shard, Esq., Wm. Cowper, Esq., Mr. Fawkes, and Mr. Christopher Pitt, Esq.—The Works of Horace. Translated into verse, with a prose interpretation for the help of students, and occasional Notes; by Christopher Smart. Lond. 1767, 8vo. This Work is also accompanied with the Latin Text: it was reprinted, Lond. 1770, 4 vols. 8vo. In the edition of 1770, the prose translation is printed at the bottom of the page; it had previously been printed without the poetical version, in 1756.—Translations of some Odes and Epistles of Horace; with various other Poems, by John Gray. Dundee, 1778, 8vo.—The Odes, Epodes, and Carmen Seculare of Horace. Translated into English verse, by Wm. Boscawen, s Esq. Lond. 1793, 8vo. An entertaining Work, accompanied with useful and instructing Notes.—The Satires, Epistles, and Art of Poetry, by John Hampson, A.M. Lond. 1797, 8vo.—Select Translations from the Works of Homer and Horace, by Gilb. Thompson, M.D. Lond. 1802, 8vo.—Paraphrases upon Horace, Epode, Ode 2. Book ii. Sat. 6. Book i. Epist. 10. Book iii. Ode 1. Book iii. Ode 16. These Paraphrases are to be found in Abr. Cowley's Works. Often reprinted.—Various Odes, Epistles, and Satires of Horace, in Dr. Jon. Swift's Works.—Single, or selections of the Odes and other parts of Horace, are to be found scattered among the Works of the most learned authors of this country; and in almost all t the periodical papers, which treat of polite Literature and general knowledge: among the principal are, Milton, Pope, Sir W. Temple, John Earl of Orrery, the Earl of Rochester, the Earl of Roscommon, Christopher Pitt, Congreve, West, Beattie, Rowe, Greene, George, Lord Lyttleton, &c.—A Satire, in imitation of Horace. Lond. 1735.—Imitations of Horace with the Latin Text, by Thomas Neville, A.M. Lond. 1758, 8vo. These imitations are esteemed as elegant and beautiful.——OPERA.—For. Edit. Horatius, Opera Omnia. Without date, place, or name of printer, 4to. This has been by Bibliographers ranked as the editio princeps of Horace; and the greatest number attribute it to the press of Zarotus, at Milan, in or u about the year 1470; while others imagine it the production of Philip de Lavagna, some time previous to 1469. It is an extraordinary rare volume, and of great intrinsic merit, as it forms the foundation of several of the best readings of Horace; and by Gesner preferred to any MS. which he had consulted.—Opera Omnia. 1470, fol. Charact. Goth. sine ulla nota.—Op. Omnia. Fol. Without date, place, or printer's name. According to Audefredi, it is the Work of Phil. de Lignamine. Rome, 1471. A Work of excessive rarity.—Opera Omnia. Without date, place, or name of printer, fol. An edition held in great estimation, and of exceeding rarity. Various opinions have been formed as to the printer, time, and place of this v production; according to De Bure, it is similar to that of Catullus, Tibullus, and Propertius, of 1472, and printed in the same manner, as a companion to these Classics.—Horatii Carmina. Neapol. 1474, 4to. This edition is known to few Bibliographers, and has escaped Morelli and Giustiiani.—Odæ et Ars Poetica, cum Commentariis Acronis et Porphyrionis. Without place, date, or name of printer, fol. This is undouhtedly the first edition of Horace, accompanied with these Commentators. To this edition are prefixed, two Lives of Horace by the same, it is printed in a neat type, and attributed to Bartholomew Guldinbech, a very early printer at Rome, about the year 1475.—Opera Omnia, cum Commentariis Acronis w et Porphyrionis. Printed by Zarotus, Milan, 1474, 2 vols. 4to. These two volumes are properly separate publications, and not originally intended to accompany the Text of Horace, which occupies the first edition. It is a rare and valuable Work.—Epistolæ et Odæ. Printed by Cœnerius Augustinus, Ferrara, 1474, 4to. This Work is far scarcer than the one preceding.—Opera Omnia. Mediol. Phil. de Lavagna. Milan, 1476, fol. A beautiful edition, and by no means of frequent occurrence; it was reprinted, Milan, 1477, fol.—Opera Omnia. Printed by Philip Conda Petri. Venice, 1477, 1478, fol. Reprinted, 1479, 1483, 1490. The first of these editions is the rarest.—Opera Omnia, à Raph. Regio, cum Acronis et Porphyrionis x Comment. Venet. 1481, fol.—Opera Omnia, à Christ. Laudino, cum Acronis Comment. Printed by Miscomius at Florence, 1482, fol. This is an exceedingly elegant and valuable production. This edition was reprinted at Venice the same year, and two more Venetian editions appeared in 1483.—Opera Omnia, à Jo. de Forlivio et Raynald. de Novimagio. 1483, fol.—Opera, cum Comment. Acronis et Porphyrionis. Mediol. Zarot. 1485, 1486, fol.—Opera Omnia, cum Commentariis Landini. Printed by Bernardus de Tridino, Venice, 1486, fol.—Opera Omnia, cum Acronis, Porphyrionis, Landini, et Mancinelli, Comment. à Jo. Francisco Philomuso. Venet. Geo. Arrivabene, 1490, fol.—Opera, cum Acronis, y Porphyrionis, Landini, et Mancinelli Comment. Venet. Phil. Pincius Mantuanus, 1492, fol.—Opera Omnia, cum Annotationibus et Figuris Chylographicis Jacobi Locker, Argentor. Printed by Reinhardus, alias Gürninger, Strasburgh, 1498, fol. This Work is adorned with innumerable small whole-length figures; and in the Harleian Catalogue it is called, one of the greatest curiosities in the whole Harleian collection. It is adorned with a vast number of cuts, reckoned extremely beautiful when they were done, representing the subjects of the Odes, Epistles, Satires, &c., and one in particular, of the nine Muses; amongst whom Calliope is seated on a throne, crowning Horace, under which is inserted, her speech to that Poet, in z Latin verse. Jacobus Locher, a poet-laureat, was the Author.—Opera Omnia. Venet. apud Aldum. 1501, 1503, 1509, 1519, 1527, 8vo. The first of these editions is in the Italic letter, and intended as a companion to the Virgil and Juvenal of the same date: it is very rare and valuable. The existence of the edition of 1503 has been doubted. The edition of 1509 is very valuable, and almost as rare as the one in 1501; and contains two useful Tracts, De Metris Horatianis, and De Metrorum Generibus, which were afterwards published in Dr. Combe's very magnificent edition. The edition in 1519 is the most correct and excellent of the whole.—Opera Omnia, recognita per Ph. Beroaldum. Bonon. 1502.—Opera, Petit. a Paris, 1503, 4to. This contains the interpretation of Mancinellus and Ascensius: about the same time Petit published an edition of the Odes of Horace, but being intended for the use of schools, it has now become extremely scarce.—Opera Omnia. Paris. Badius, 1503, 1505, and 1506, fol.—Opera. Florent. Junta, 1503, 8vo. 1514, 1519. The edition of 1503 is probably the first book printed by the Juntas, in the Aldine or Italic character.—Opera, cum iv. Comment. Mediol. 1508, fol.—Opera Omnia, absque loci et typogr. indicio, 1511, 8vo. This edition is printed in Italics, and contains important various readings. Simon Carpenter, who published the Plautus and Quintilian at Lyons, is supposed to be the Au- b thor, from the similarity which it has to these two publications.—Opera, Schurerius. Strasburg. 1514 and 1517.—Opera. Florent., Junta, 1514, 1519, and 1527, 8vo.—Opera, Bonfinis. Lugd. 1518, 8vo. This is a rare and elegant edition, containing some excellent observations upon the metres of Horace.—Opera, cum iv. Commentariis, cumque Annotationibus M. Bonfinis et Aldi Manutii. Paris. apud Ascens. 1519. Paris. apud J. Parvum, 1528. Paris. apud Ascensium, 1529. The first of these editions is an uncommon and splendid production, the four Comment. are those of Acron, Porphyrio Mancinellus, and Ascensius.—Opera, cum Annotatiunculis. Paris. apud Sim. Colinæum, 1528, 1531, 1533, 1543, 1549, 8vo. c The first of these editions is the most correct, and printed in the Italic letter, which is thought equal, if not superior, to that of Aldus, its inventor. The Text is no more than a reprint of the Aldine editions.—Opera, ab Henr. Glareano. Frib. 1533, 8vo.—Op. Lugd. apud Seb. Gryphium, 1536, 8vo.—Opera. Paris. R. Steph. 1539 and 1543, 8vo. Henr. Steph. 1578. Et Rob. Steph. 1588, and without date. These editions are correctly printed.—Op. Par. ap. Rob. Stephanum, 1544, 8vo.—Opera. Paris. Vascosan. 1545, 4to.—Opera. Lugd. Gryph. 1545, 1551, 16mo. 1565, 8vo.—Op. Fabricius. Basil. 1545, 1555, 1570, 1580, 2 vols. fol. A Work of very great merit, and the two first editions are of consid derable scarcity. The Work is illustrated by eighty Commentators: the first volume comprehending all the ancient Grammarians, from Acron and Porphyrio, to Terentius Scaurus, who have written on Horace; along with, Breves Annotationes Hartungi quibus docet, potissimum ubi hic noster Græcos imitatus est: the second volume, the Commentaries of Landinus, Luisinus, Grifolius, and Jason de Nores; the Annotations of Erasmus, Aldus, Cœlius, Politian, and others. An edition in 4to. was published by Fabricius, at Basil. 1555.—Opera. Lugd. apud Gryph. 1554, 8vo.—Horatii Opera, à M. Ant. Mureto. Venet. apud P. Manut. 1555, 1559, 1561, and 1570, 8vo.—Opera Pulmanni. Antwerp, Nutius, 1557, 1564, e 8vo. Antw. Plantin. 1566, 1577, 8vo. These are formed on the basis of the Aldine edition, with many useful emendations.—Opera, cum Annotationibus Mureti et Aldi Manutii. Lugd. 1559, 8vo.—Opera, Lambini. Lugd. 1561, 2 vols. 4to. Venet. de Caballis, 1565. Apud Aldum, 1566. Paris. 1567, 1568, 1579, 1587, fol. Lambinus has deservedly been esteemed as one of the best critics upon Horace. The second edition is the scarcest and most beautiful, and contains the learned Notes of Michael Brutus on the Odes and Epodes. The edition of Paris, 1567, is the last upon which Lambinus bestowed corrections and improvements. Wechel edited two editions of Lambinus, at Francfort, 1577, fol. 1596, 4to. f —Opera, cum Scholiis, à Jo. Mich. Bruto. Ven. apud Aldum, 1564, 8vo.—Opera, cum Comm. Gul. Xylandri. Heidelberg, 1575, 8vo.—Opera, Plantin. Antwerp, 1575, 8vo. Edited by Treter; it is an excellent and scarce Work, and contains a valuable Index. There are two other editions. Antwerp. Plant. 1576, 8vo. and 1597, 4to.—Opera, H. Stephanus. Paris. 1577, 1588, 1592, 8vo. Valuable and rare editions.—Opera, Cruquii. Antw. 1579, 1587, 1611, 4to. Lugd. Bat. 1593, 1603, 4to. Cruquius holds a very high rank amongst the Commentators of Horace. The Antwerp edition of 1611, is by far the most valuable and rare.—Opera, à Pet. Gualt. Chabotio. Paris, 1582, 8vo. A very rare edition. Basil. 1591, 1594. g Et cum Expositione Analytica, ex ejusdem Commentariis majoribus, exscripta. Basil. 1589, 8vo.—Opera, Lat. Gall. per Luc. de la Porte. These editions of Heinsius are very elegant: the one in 1676, by Bond, is without Notes, and printed literis quadratis.—Opera, Rutgersii. Paris. 1613, 12mo. The Text is taken from that of Heinsius, with many emendations, and contains many useful and critical remarks.—Opera, cum Annotationibus J. Bond. i Han. 1621, 8vo.—Odæ, Satyræ, et Epistolæ Selectæ. Very respectable k editions. As an interpreter, he is preferred to Du Hamel and Dacier. The edition of 1756 is preferred. Republished by Dorighelus. Padua, 1774, 3 vols. 8vo. An edition little known.—Opera, ex Castigationibus Bentleii, Cunningami, Sanadonis. Groning. 1733, 12mo.—Opera. Paris. ex Typ. Reg. 1733, 16mo. The type very beautiful and very small; it is generally found bound up with Phædrus, printed in the same style.—Opera, ab Andr. Dacierio, Lat. et Gall. Paris. The Text is from Sanadon, with occasional Illustrations from Bentley and Cunningham.—Opera, à Poisenet de Sivry. Paris. 1777, 2 vols. 8vo. Contains many critical emendations.—Opera, à Christ. Dav. Jano. Lips. 1778-82, 2 vols. 8vo. In this country a rare edition: the opinions of Critics stand m greatly at variance as to the merits of Janus.—Opera, Manheim. 1779, 2 vols. 8vo.—Opera, à Frank. Dorighello. Patav. 1780. A good edition, illustrated with select Notes from all the Critics on Horace.—Opera, à Oberlino. Argent. 1788, 4to. An elegant edition, and considered very correct. To it is subjoined, various Readings from four Strasburg MSS.—Opera. Parmæ, Bodoni. 1791, fol. This is esteemed as one of the best specimens of Bodoni's typography. The Editor, Chevalier Nich. de Azara, Spanish Ambassador at Rome, illustrated it with approved Readings and various Dissertations on Roman Antiquities.—Opera, Biponti. 1792, 8vo.—Opera, Didot. Paris, 1799, fol. A splendid edition, with beautiful vignettes, de- n signed by Percier: the text is from Oberlin. This impression is of the same type and paper with the Virgil of the same printer, and intended as its companion.—Opera, Wetzelii. Lignit. 1799, 8vo. Contains copious Indexes. This edition has been completely guided by that of Janus, scarcely an observation is to be found in the one which is not in the other.—Opera, Mitscherlichii. Lipsiæ, 1800, 2 vols. 8vo. An elaborate and excellent edition; only two volumes have yet been published, bringing it down to the end of the Epodes: to which are subjoined, Analecta ad Horatii Carmina. It is illustrated with numerous and the best selected Observations of former Critics, with a selection of parallel passages from the Greek Poets. o Ornamented with vignettes, designed by Fiorillo.—Opera, Doeringii. Lipsiæ, 1803, 2 vols. This, among other things, is illustrated with many Annotations from the preceding Editor; and contains the tract, De Metris Horatianis, as corrected and improved by Sparrius. A useful and judicious edition.—Horatii Sermones. Sine loco, tempore, et typogr. folio. Odæ, Epod. et Ars Poetica, cum Comm. Acronii et Porphyrionis. This curious and very old production is printed in the Gothic character, and is of the greatest rarity.—Odes.—Carmina, sive Odæ et Epod. Lips. 1492, 4to.—Carmina et Epod. cum Comm. Bern. HOWARD, Henry, Earl of Surrey, the most accomplished Nobleman, Soldier, Scholar, and Poet of his time, was born, according to one class of authorities, about 1515, according to another, about 1520. On an accusation of high treason, he was committed to the Tower, tried, and though the charges against him were very far from being substantiated, found guilty and condemned to death. On the 19th January, 1546-7, he was beheaded d on Tower-Hill.—Songes and Sonnettes of Henry Earle of Surrey, and others. Lond. printed by R. Tottel, 1557, 16mo. 1565, 1567, 1569, 1574, 1585, 1587, and in 1717; with a Preface by G. Jewell, M. D., entit. Poems of Henry Howard, Earl of Surrey, who flourished in the reign of Henry the Eighth. Printed from a correct copy. With the Poems of Sir Thomas Wiat, and others, his famous cotemporaries. To which are added, some Memoirs of his Life and Writings. Lond. 1717, 8vo. These Poems, notwithstanding they have passed through so many editions, and were so popular in their day, are now but little known, and seldom to be met with. Of all the editions, the last is the one upon which least faith can be placed;

e as the ignorance of Dr. Jewell, with regard to the language of his Author, but ill qualified him for the task of an Editor, and has led him into numerous errors.—The fourth Boke of Virgill, intreeting of the Loue betwene Æneas and Dido; translated into Englishe, and drawen into straunge metre. Lond. without date, 4to. 1557, along with the second Book. The straunge kind of metre is nothing more than blank verse; the first specimen of it in the English language the Earl had the merit of producing.—His Translations of the Psalms, Ecclesiastes, and a few additional Original Poems, were printed many years ago by Dr. Percy, but not published, as the whole impression was consumed in the destructive fire which took place in Mr. Nichol's pref mises, Feb. 1808. The MS. of these is now in the possession of Tho. Hill, Esq.—The Works of Henry Howard, Earl of Surrey, and of Sir Thomas Wyatt the Elder. Edited by George Frederick Nott, D. D., F. S. A. Lond. 1815, 2 vols. 4to.

HOWARD, Henry, Earl of Northampton, second son of the preceding, a learned Pedant, and intriguing Courtier, was born in Norfolk about 1539; died 1614.—A Defensatiue against the Poyson of supposed Prophecies; not hitherto confuted by the penne of any man, which being grounded eyther vppon the warrant and authority of old paynted bookes, Expositions of Dreames, Oracles, Reuelations, Inuocations of damned Spirits, Judig cialles of Astrologie, or any other kinde of pretended knowledge whatsoeuer, de futuris contingentibus: haue beene causes of great disorder in the Common wealth, and cheefely among the simple and vnlearned people: very needefull to be published at this time, considering the late offence which grew by most palpable and grosse errours in Astrology. Lond. 1583, 4to. 1620, fol. This is well analysed by Oldys in his British Librarian. All the other Works of this Nobleman are in MS.

HUGO, Charles Louis, Canon of the Premonstratensian order, a Doctor of Divinity, Abbé of Etival, and titular Bishop of Ptolemais; died 1735. He is a voluminous Author, but his Works, owing to their subjects, are little known in this country; they are entitled,—Vie de St. Norbert Fonda- p teur des Premontrés. 1704, 4to.—Traité Historique et Critique de la Maison de Lorraine. 1711, 4to. This being a work of some boldness, the name of the author, and of the place where it was printed, were assumed; the former being professedly Balcicourt, the latter Berlin, instead of Nanci. The author was however traced out, and fell under the censure of Parliament, in 1712.—Reflexions sur les deux Ouvrages, concernant la Maison de Lorraine. 1713. This is a defence of the preceding publication.—Sacræ Antiquitatis Monumenta Historica, Dogmatica, Diplomatica, cum Notis. Stivag. 1725, 2 vols. fol.—Annales Præmonstratensium. 2 vols. fol. This is a laborious work, illustrated with plans of the monasteries, &c., but accus- q ed of some remarkable errors.

u HYGINUS, Caius Julius, an ancient Latin Writer, who flourished in the time of Augustus: is supposed by some to have been a Spaniard by birth, by others an Alexandrian.——POET. ASTRON.—Poëticon Astronomicon, de Mundi et Sphæræ ac utriusque Partium Declarationc, libris quatuor. Ferrar. printed by Augustinus Carnerius, 1475, 4to. Editio princeps. An impression of exceeding rarity. The first book of this Work treats of the world, and of the doctrine of the sphere; the second of the signs in the zodiac; the third gives a description and history of the constellations. and the fourth treats of several things relating to the planets.—Poet. Astron. Ven. ap. Erhard Ratdolt, 1482, 4to. This edition, though inferior to the v preceding in rarity, is greatly preferable to it for the beauty of its type, and the splendour of its execution. It contains many cuts, which, considering the date. are very superior and elegant. There is another impression by the same printer, dated 1485, which likewise contains many embellishments.—Poet. Astron. Ven. 1517, 4to. Saleng. 1539, fol.—Fabulæ et Poeticon Astronomicon, à Jac. Mycillo. Bas. 1535, fol. The first edition to which the book of Fables is annexed. In these Fables the Heathen Mythology is reduced into a compendium, but they are suspected to be spurious.—Fabul. et Poet. Astron. Bas. ap. Hervag. 1549, fol. Subjoined to Fulgentii Planciadis Mythologiarum, lib. ii. et de vocibus antiquis.—Fabul. et Poet.
w Astron. ex edit. Mycilli. Bas. 1570, fol. With Palephates, Aratus, and Proclus.—Fabul. et Poet. Astron. cum Notis Caspar. Barthii. Lugd. Bat. et Amst. 1670, 12mo. An accurate edition.—Fabul. et Poet. Astron. à Joan. Schoeffero. Amst. 1674, 8vo.—Fabul. et Poet. Astron. à Munkero. Amst. 1681, 2 vols. 8vo. Best edition, printed with some other pieces of antiquity, under the title of, Mythographi Latini.—The editions of the Fables in which the Poeticon Astronomicon is not included are: Fabulæ. Ven. ap. Ald. 1497 et 1499.—Fabulæ. Par. 1578, 8vo.—Fab. à Hieron. Commelino. Heidelb. 1599, 8vo. Annexed to Fulgentii Mythologica, Allegoria Virgilii, Albrici atque Firmici libellus de errore profanarum
